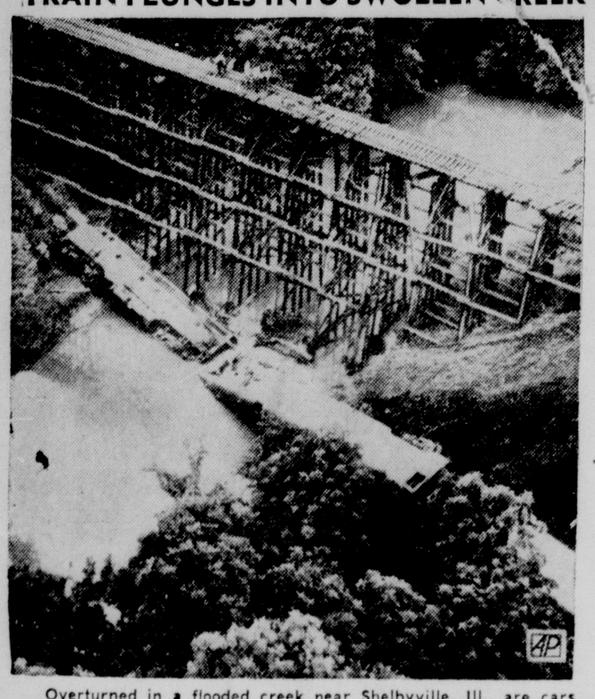
TRAIN PLUNGES INTO SWOLLEN CREEK



Overturned in a flooded creek near Shelbyville, Ill., are cars of the Meadow Lark, fast passenger train of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad, which plunged down the embankment. Two trainmen were killed and a dozen passengers were injured. The diesel engine hit a track wash-out and plowed down the bank approaching the trestle. Four cars tumbled behind the locomotive. Three of them were reported to have turned over four times in somersault manner on the way down. The train was en route from Chicago to Cypress, Ill. (AP Wirephoto).

Fifty Killed When Airliner Crashes On Mountain Ridge

Search Party Reaches Wreckage Just Before Dark, Reports No Sign of Life; Seven Children Included In List Of Passengers

Fort Collins, Colo., June 30.—(AP)—A United Air Lines Mainliner smashed into Crystal Mountain early today, killing all 50 aboard.

The state patrol reported a search party reached the scene just before dark tonight and said there "is no sign of life."

The plane, flight 610 from San Francisco for Chicago was making its first trip after a 10-day pilot strike.

It struck a ridge 18 miles west of here, cut a long swath, skipped a low area, and broke up half a mile further on, scorching a huge patch in the pines.

Parts still were smouldering when searchers reached the site. A piece of fuselage about 20 feet long and part of the tail section were the largest chunks.

Dean Conger, Denver Post photographer who flew over it, said, "it looked like somebody had busted a big bag of peanuts on the side of the mountain."

The wreckage was at 8,600 feet elevation. That was just 100 feet higher than when the plane made its last, routine report at 1:56 a. m. (MST) as it headed south from Cheyenne for a scheduled landing at Denver 14 minutes later.

It was 11 hours before air searchers spotted the wreckage, in the mountains northeast of Rocky Mountain National Park and west of a straight line between Cheyenne and Denver.

Patrol headquarters said searchers, including United Air repre-

Britian Dispatching More Warships To Guard Workers In Oil Dispute

By Robert B. Hewett

Tehran, Iran, June 30.—(AP)—Britain headed at least one more frigate toward the Persian Gulf today and sent a tank landing ship to join the cruiser Mauritius off the refinery port of Abadan.

An Iranian spokesman protested bitterly that Britain is building up her land and air power as well in bases threatening Iran from the west.

This was denied at the defense ministry in London. A British spokesman said "there have been no recent movements."

The Iranian spokesman, Hussein Maki, told newsmen at Abadan that if the British try to take possession of a single inch of Iranian territory in the quarrel over Iran's oil nationalization law, "the first shot fired will signal the start of World War III" Maki is secretary-general of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's popular front government.

He declared two British warships have appeared at the mouth of the Shatt - El-Arab, a frontier river between Iran and Iraq, to back up the 8,000-ton Mauritius, which has Abadan under its guns. These apparently were the two frigates sent with the cruiser to Bahrein island early in June, the Wren and the Flamingo. The LST is the Messina.

"A British troop carrier has entered the Shatt - El-Arab and gone up the river past Abadan," Maki said. "It is loaded with British troops and carried tanks. We also have learned the British now have 150 planes in the area of Basra,

WHERE THE KOREAN WAR STARTED – AND MAY END

A lone U. S. soldier stands guard near a sign on the 38th parallel in Korea which calls attention to where the war started a year and five days ago. Across this imaginary line, North Korean Communists swept into South Korea June 25, 1950. If the current Soviet proposal for a cease-fire armistice is accepted, both sides in the conflict would retire from the 38th Parallel. (AP Wirephoto).

Allies Awaiting Chinese Reply To Peace Proposal

By Don Huth

Tokyo, Sunday, July 1. —(AP)— Powerful American radio receivers in Japan and Korea listened in vain today for any Red reply to the United Nations offer to discuss an armistice in Korea.

They heard only the usual budgets of Communist propaganda, broadcast from Peiping and Pyongyang, the Chinese and Korean Red capitals.

Apparently there had been no response to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's invitation, first broadcast a full day earlier, starting at 8 a. m., Saturday, Tokyo time, in a number of languages. He proposed a conference in the North Korean harbor of Wonsan aboard a Danish hospital ship, the Jutlandia, following up the Soviet suggestion of June 23 that a cease-fire could be arranged.

The 100-mile Korean battlefront was relatively quiet, although both sides hurled artillery and mortar barrages as small Allied units continued aggressive patrolling. Allied air attacks continued as usual as the war went into the

BOND ELECTION SLATED TUESDAY

Property Owners To Pass On $650,000 Fire Fund Issue

Property owners in the city will go to the polls Tuesday, and vote on the proposed $650,000 fire bond issue.

The polls will be opened at 7 a.m. Tuesday and will remain open until 6 p.m.

The principal proposals of the $650,000 program include expansion of No. 1 station on its present location, relocation of stations No. 2 and 3, construction of a new station on Forsythe avenue, completion of the fire alarm system to provide protection for outlying sections of the city, construction of drill tower, school and equipment and reconditioning of No. 4 station.

The League of Wemen votors having made a thorough study into the problems of the Monroe fire department, presented a detailed study of the situation stating that the department was years behind time in equipment, housing facilities, and other important issues in the fire-fighting field.

The report showed that 30 per cent of the hose used by the department was 15 years old, whereas seven years is considered the life of a hose; the central station adjacent to the city hall was built in 1910; and that only one station was comparatively new, having been built in 1946; and that the signal board was installed in 1916.

There is no record showing that the fire department ever asked for a fine bond issue, the League of Women Voters further said.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters, as well as state agencies, has warned that unless steps are taken to expand fire protection, insurance rates will be increased considerably. Monroe is also threatened with being registered on the second class list by

The attic is insulated with rock wool. A radiant heating system is used through the building. Copper pipe is laid in the concrete floor and hot water is circulated through this pipe by an automatic gas furnace.

The temperature is controlled by Electronic Moduflow control system with adjustment valves in each room.

The large sleeping quarters are furnished with little white youth beds, each having a Simmons plastic cover damp-proof, innerspring mattress. Ten large clothing lockers, together with a spacious linen closet are built in the front corridor.

The emergency kitchen is equipped with an International Harvester refrigerator and Detroit Jewel range. The reception room, guest room and house mother's room are all comfortably furnished.

D. C. Black, superintendent, urges the general public interested in the home to make inspection on Sunday.

Police, Army Battling Rebels In Siam Revolt

Bangkok, Thailand, June 30.—(AP)—Rebel sailors and marines fought a bloody and apparently losing battle with artillery and machineguns in Bangkok's streets today against soldiers, police and airmen loyal to their kidnapped strong man, Premier Pibulsonggram.

The battle apparently was part of an old army-navy feud and had nothing to do with east-west tension over communism.

It started Friday with the fantastic daylight capture of the anti-Communist premier by a raiding party of sailors who carried him off from the U.S. dredger Manhattan just after it had been presented to the government and annointed by Buddhist priests. The kidnaping was accomplished before dazed diplomats, army officers and police could lift a finger.

In the ensuing battle four shells ripped through the U.S. embassy, which was in a no man's land. A bullet lodged in the wall just over the head of U.S. Charge D'Affaires William T. Turner, as he telephoned the Associated Press Correspondent here.

(Turner reported to the state department at Washington late

4 LOCAL NEGROES SHOT, 3 ARRESTED

48-Year-Old Negro Preacher Accused Of Hexing, Using Black Magic

Four Negroes were shot and three others arrested here on charges of attempted murder and shooting with intent to kill in an 18-hour period ending late Saturday afternoon.

A 48-year-old Negro preacher accused by an assailant of "hexing," or using black magic, was fired on five times with a .32 automatic and hit once late Saturday afternoon. His coat was perforated with holes, the preacher told a reporter.

A few blocks away, at almost the same time, police said a Negro woman shot her next - door neighbor in the head with a .22 rifle. Police said the argument was over a common-law husband.

Two small Negro children were shot as they lay sleeping Friday night, as a prowler armed with a 12 gauge shotgun rammed the gun through the window and pulled the trigger, police said.

Arrested and in jail are:

are:

Milton Beavers, 33, Texas street, charged with shooting with intent to kill Rev. Ambrose Heckard 1120½ Rear Washington street. Beavers told police the preacher had placed a "hex" on him and attempted to steal his common-law wife.

Mable Lee Cummins, 44, 713 Adams street, charged with shooting Ida Mae Higgs, 29, of 75 Adams street, with intent to kill. Police said the shooting was over a common-law husband.

Willie Jackson, 38, 1005 Wood street, charged with the attempted murder of a one and one-half year-old child, and the baby's brother, eight years old. The wounded were Freddie and William Carter, nephews of Jackson's common-law wife.

The outbreak of violence resulted in no deaths, but a total of

Controls Are Extended For 31 More Days

Washington, June 30.—(AP)—President Truman signed into law today a stopgap bill extending for 31 days — but curbing— his power to control prices, wages, rents and credit.

He acted just eight hours before his control powers were due to expire—at midnight tonight.

Mr. Truman plainly didn't like the bill — because, among other thing, it bans any price rollbacks or new price ceilings during July, and his administration had planned to order price cuts running far in excess of $2,000,000,000.

He made no comment in signing the measure, however, although he is expected to renew shortly his fight for the stronger control legislation he wants.

The president affixed his signature aboard the yacht Williamsburg as it lay in anchor at the naval gun factory here. He left a

The fact that Mr. and Mrs. Phil Bernhardt are off on a belated honeymoon, just 25 years late, seethed in the minds of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Scalia of the F. and J. Service Station. After brooding over the affair several weeks, together with the realization that they had never had a real honeymoon trip although parents of five children and grandparents at that, seemed to call for action.

This action was taken yesterday when the Scalias, pursuing real Bernhardt tactics, set forth on a similar trip. But they did not select Niagara Falls as the terminus. They left Saturday in their car for El Paso, Tex., Calsbad Caverns, old Mexico and California and they, like the Bernhardts, will be gone a full month's time.

When they return they will have a big time to report to their five children and grandchild. No, they certainly did not take any of their offspring on this trip as it would not be suited to the situation!

Danish Ship On Alert For Peace Talks

Pusan, Korea, June 30.—(AP)—The gleaming Danish hospital ship Jutlandia was on a two-hour alert in Pusan Harbor tonight, ready to steam to Wonsan, the cease-fire rendezvous point suggested by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

In his cabin, surrounded by little brass Buddhas and other curios of the Orient, Commodore Kai Hammerich talked of the mssion his ship soon may be called upon to perform.

"The selection is a great honor for Denmark,' Saulze Kvrichn, a quiet, bespectacled little man. "Of course the Jutlandia would be just a platform for the talks, but an instrument for peace. It is a very great honor."

The Commodore is both a navy man and a working humanitarian. He formerly served as president of the Danish Red Cross for five years.

"You might say I have devoted half my life to the Danish navy and the other half to social service, he said.

Commodore Hammerich received official notice about noon Friday that the Jutlandia was to be placed on a two-hour alert status.

"When we got the alert notice I did not know what was happening," the commodore said. "I imagined all sorts of things, pos-

19 Japanese Trapped On Island In World War II Surrender To U.S.

Guam, June 30. —(AP)— World War II ended nearly six years late today for a motley band of 19 Japanese holdouts.

They meekly surrendered their rifles on tiny Anatahan island — their isolated western Pacific home for seven years. Carrying a pet cat, they clambered aboard a U.S. navy tug on the first stage of a belated return to Japan.

Theirs was a strange story of five deaths among the original 33 in a fight over a woman, and of feuds over who should be head man in their enforced community life.

The U.S. navy finally convinced the last 19 that the war actually was over by dispatching a plane which dropped letters and photographs from home. Only when relatives wrote them that Japan was licked would they believe it.

The 19 holdouts were as healthy as they had been stubborn. They had lived well on fish, wild pork, fresh fruit and vegetables on Anatahan, in the Marianas 70 miles north of Saipan.

They were the last of 21 who gave up. The first was the woman, who fled in June, 1950.

Six others were slain — five in friction over the woman—one was wounded fatally in an Allied bombing attack and the other five were victims of accidents, including three drownings.

One holdout who knew the Buddhist ritual officiated at burials.

Aspeso of the dead were strapped in boxes on the backs of the 19 who boarded the tug today.

Capt. Katsusaburo Usui, 38, said the group had been stranded on Anatahan since June, 1944, when his fishing craft, the Kaiho Maru, was sunk by U.S. attack.

A feud - marred community life began. The group observed holidays through a calendar marked with charcoal on a metal scrap of a crashed B-29.

Each New Year's Day, palm fronds were placed on lean-to huts.

A kitten was taken from a wild mother cat and tamed.

Island rule included court trials. There was one death sentence from murder.

Skipper Usui learned only today that during his enforced exile his

Parish Spends $750,000 On Road Blacktopping

A road blacktopping program costing $750,000 has been carried on by Ouachita parish in the last six years. Extent of this work was shown in figures submitted by A.E. Montgomery, president of the police jury, and W. W. McBride, parish engineer. The total program included 55.5 miles of blacktopping.

Working is still being carried on and Mr. Montgomery said the program would be enlarged still further when state approval is obtained for projects that have already been approved by the police jury. Seven miles of additional topping has already been approved by the state highway department for this year and three miles of this work has been completed.

The police jury undertook its most ambitious program in 1950, surfacing a total of 20 miles of roads. This work included the Okaloosa school road in ward seven; the Swartz - Fairbanks roads in wards two and one; the Keystone road, 21st street, the old Sterlington road, and the Edgewater Garden road in wards 1 and 10; state route 1299 south of Calhoun and state route 201 north of Calhoun in ward six.

In 1949 the parish surfaced 13 miles of roads, including Standifer street and the Bernstein park road from Jackson street to state highway 14 in ward three; the Milhaven road from Powell street to highway 80 in wards three and two; Pargoud boulevard in ward 10; the new Natchitoches road from Jewel street to the Well road, and Arant street in Brownville in ward five.

Three miles were surfaced in 1948, including Forsythe street from 21st street to U. S. highway 80 in ward 10 and the Well road from U. S. highway 80 to the Natchitoches in ward five.

In 1947 the 10.5 miles of surfacing in the parish included the following: A part of the Keystone road from Sterlington south and the old Sterlington road from Sterlington north in ward 1; the Arkansas road from north seventh street to Drew school and the old Natch-

U. S. Can Recruit Mexican Workers

Washington, June 30.—(AP)—Congress today passed a bill authorizing the federal government to recruit farm laborers in Mexico.

If President Truman signs the bill, the secretary of labor will be permitted to bring Mexicans to this country to meet labor shortages.

American employers would take the workers from reception centers to farms. They would pay up to $15 for moving workers to the reception center plus the total cost of taking them to their farms.

Mexicans would go only to areas certified by the secretary of labor as having shortages of domestic workers.

The U.S. government would guarantee performance of contracts between workers and employers.

BASTROP CHIEF FBI GRADUATE

Ray J. Sibley Completes Work In 47th Session Of School

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced that Ray J. Sibley, chief of police, Bastrop, was graduated Saturday from the 47th session of the FBI National Academy. Exercises were conducted at the departmental auditorium in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Hoover said the graduates were addressed by the Most Reverend Patrick A. O'Boyle, archbishop of Washington, and the Honorable Frank Pace, Jr., secretary of the army.

Director Hoover also pointed out that the 47th session was composed of fifty-eight officers from thirty-two states, Cuba and Puerto Rico. The representative from the Cuban national police is the first from that country ever to attend the FBI National Academy.

J. M. Lopez, special agent in charge of the New Orleans division of the FBI, stated that Chief Sibley began a twelve-week study in Washington, D. C., on April 9, 1951.

The primary purpose of the academy, which was founded in 1935, is to give to local law enforcement officers training as police instructors and police administrators. The graduates of Chief Sibley's class will bring the total number of graduates to 2,369. Officers attending the academy received their training at FBI headquarters in Washington, D. C., and at the FBI academy located at Quantico, Va.

Training in Washington included classroom work covering various subjects such as police administration and organization, traffic control, scientific crime detection, juvenile delinquency, fingerprinting and laboratory aids. At Quantico Chief Sibley took the same firearms training course afforded special agents of the FBI. Also at Quantico, graduates took part in work on a practical level photography, raid planning and investigation of hit-and-run cases.

The faculty of the academy is composed of special agents of the FBI and prominent men in various specialized fields related to law enforcement.

Other law enforcement officers in this area who are graduates of the FBI National Academy are Chief Deputy Sheriff Jurd G. Stewart, Union Parish Sheriff's office; Deputy Sheriff Charles V. Muirhead, East Carroll parish sheriff's office; E. L. "Pop" Walker, deputy sheriff, Ouachita parish sheriff's office; Prrentiss Frasier, marshal of ward 1, Lincoln parish; William Mac Seaman, deputy sheriff, Tensas parish sheriff's office; and Russell R."Happy" Holt, deputy sheriff, Madison parish sheriff's office.

Efficiency Man Describes French Champagne Country

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article on the champagne country of France was written by Robert J. Eustace, efficiency expert, who has been making improvements in the operation of the News-Star—World Publishing Company's plant.)

BY ROBERT J. EUSTACE

About one hundred and ten miles east of Paris is located the world famous Champagne Country, a definitely defined and limited area of about twenty thousand acres, within which are vineyards producing the only grapes allowed to make the wine known as Champagne.

Rheims, the cathedral city, and twenty miles distant, are the real centers of this section, and the starting point of any visit to the big factories, wine cellars, or vineyards. The visitor to Rheims finds himself in a most amiable city of around one hundred fifty thousand population — located on a level hill, with fine streets and boulevards and parks, and smart stores lining the business section. Hotel such as the Grand Hotel du Loin D'Or, with large sidewalk cafes alla-Paris, and with the more intimate touch with the people of a medium sized city make you want to stay for days.

Let us walk over to the dignified club house of the champagne manufacturers, where we will lunch with some of the Frenchmen who make champagne, and find out how they make it, then down into one of the big cellars, a ride through the vineyards, and home.

Here we are — an unusual luncheon group to an American—what a fine dignified, yet sincerely human, group of men—every one looking a picture of health, a born gentleman. All of equal standing, so just for the purpose of chatting, Marquis de Polignac of Pommery-Greno graciously offered to handle the manufacturing and Louis Budin of Perrier Jouet cared for the vineyard trip, while such princely fellows as Marcel Heidsieck brand, and the two Counts de Vogue of competing lines all added to the zest of the conversation.

Let us first see the vineyards, then the big cellars and factory buildings. As we drive out of Rheims through beautiful boulevards, Louis Budin, with that cultured Oxford English of the well-bred Frenchman, intermingled descriptions of the sights with some facts on the Champagne industry.

"Quite right—French law designated very clearly about twenty thousand acres of land as the champagne district, with definite boundaries, within which are included only those vineyards, such as we are driving through, which fulfill the conditions of the law, and only wine made from grapes grown within this section has the right to the name 'Champagne, '", explained Monsieur Budin, as we hit it along about sixty-five miles per hour, with a view of Rheims behind us, and the little city of Epernay across a valley just filled with vineyards. Stopping at a place named Bellevue overlooking this scene, our host described the scene, and his talk was by no means dry, for the Inn proprietor had quietly brought a bottle of our host's brand of champagne.

Then a ride through a vertiable Garden of Eden — the vineyards between Rheims and Epernay — with the famed River Marne like a flow of champagne itself. Vines growing on beautiful slopes, the highway winding gracefully down the hillsides into Epernag.

The unusual quality of the soil is one of the main reasons for the remarkable quality of the champagne, we learn from Monsieur Budin, and since the fourteenth century vineyards in this section have provided bountifully of the drink of kings. Looking in the distance and seeing a fine monument of a monk on a hillside we ascertained that it was dedicated to Dom Perignon, a Benedictine monk of the seventeenth century who discovered the method of bottling champagne at the right season, and making it retain its sparkling qualities. The memory of Don Peringnon, buried in that little town of Hautvillers near Epernay, is duly honoured annually.

As our car speeded back again toward Rheims, we listened to a fascinating description of grape gathering time in this country, which must be done in a few days at the perfection of the grape's ripeness. Carts rush the grapes to the enormous press houses, the presses work twenty-four hours a day, and thousands of valuable barrels of juice are carried in the same feverish tempto the establishments of the merchants.

Then comes fermentation — by winter sweet grape juice has changed to wine of champagne—this is tasted, blended in the tremendous vats, the mixture termed "cuvees"; and springtime finds the bottling beginning.

"And here we are now at the establishment of good Marquis de Polignac; he will be happy to take you into his cellars, but first see that hogshead he has holding over 20,000 gallons of cuvee — even we here at Rheims like to admire this immense plant; see you later," and Monsieur Busin turned us over to the gracious Marquis.

From one human dynamo to another — for the Marquis would easily be rated as the peppiest citizen in any American city—how energetically he started us on the trip through his plant where six hundred people were working, while five hundred more were employed in the various auxiliary plants throughout the district.

"You are now descending over one hundred fet below the ground into caves over twelve miles in length, and this maze of galleries represents the work of the Romans who were here for over three hundred years," explained the Marquis as the elevator quickly lowered us into the cellars of the Pommery - Greno Champagne establishment.

What a sight! Over thirteen million bottles of champagne in these cellars alone. After the champagne is bottled up in the factory buildings overhead, it is brought down to these cellars and stored about six years — in a temperature unchanging. At the end of the fifth every bottle is shaken every day for six weeks to get the sediment to the cork.

As we turn a bend in a tunnel we come upon a crew of men working with all the precision of an automobile factory crew, down here like miners underground; what are they doing? Listen.

"That machine is freezing the top of each of these bottles that have been here over six years, and the sediment frezs to the cork. Watch that trained crew pull those corks and remove the small ice cake containing the sedimnt —yes, sir — that is an expert smeller testing the champagne—next is another trained worker putting in a small quantity, the bottle is recorked and quickly taken back to its new home in another dark passageway to remain for another year before being brought to daylight and placed on sale," so related the dynamic Marquis de Polignac, and the operation took just about as long as it did to tell of it and how carefully those men handled those bottles. No bank in the world keeps as careful a record. And no bank in the world has a more faithful and sincere personnel as has these wine cellars. You feel the reverence every worker in France has for his country and the product he is working on, perhaps a trifle stronger away down here in these cool cellars.

During World War I Rheims was for four years under bombardment, the front line trenches only a few hundred yards from these cellars. The people of Rheims lived here! ! School was held, everything carried on, while thousands of troops came and went. This was to be the point of last defense.

Did the troops take the bottles? Absolutely no! Very, very few were missing when the inventory was held four or five years later. Which surely shows that the French troops knew no temptations, obeyed orders, and certainly must have had the defense of their country uppermost in their minds. But perhaps we forget that France knows how to live and that means how to drink — intelligently.

"Bootleggers are hard for us to understand and indeed quite shocking when they come here; why, one group had the audacity to want to buy one hundred thousand empty bottles, with our corks and seals on, planning of course when they got them to the United States to endeavor to bore a small hole in the bottom and fill them with bootleg champagne.

"Such nerve to come to us here in Rheims with such a proposition; little do they know or respect the ethics of the men who make champagne", and the Marquis had fire in his eye.

BRANCATO GIVES UP TO OFFICERS

Listed As One Of Ten Most Wanted By FBI Surrenders In California

San Francisco, June 30.—(AP)—Anthony Brancato, one of the FBI's "ten most wanted men," surrendered to agent Harry Kimball here today.

Kimball announced that Brancato, sought for the May 28 holdup of a state-licensed establishment at Las Vegas, Nev., first contacted an attorney.

Then Brancato and the attorney went to the FBI office.

Kimball declined to day why the hunted man gave himself up, other than to comment "it was getting pretty hot for him."

Brancato surrendered about 2 p. m. and was to be taken immediately before U. S. Commissioner Francis St. J. Fox.

The FBI identified Brancato, 36, of Kansas City, Mo., as "a tough hoodlum who has been connected with illegal gambling enterprises for years."

It said his record dating back to June, 1934, included convictions for prohibition and narcotics law violations and temporary arrests for investigation by Los Angeles police in the gangland killings of "Bugsie" Siegel in 1947 and Edward "Neddie" Herbert in 1949.

Brancato was placed on the list of 10 most wanted men two days ago as a replacement for Henry Clay Tollett, an escapee from McNeil Island, Wash., who was shot to death by state police at Redding Calif., June 3.

The Fire Department Bond Issue

Property owners of Monroe will go to the polls Tuesday to approve or disapprove a $650,000 bond issue for improvement and expansion of the city's fire department.

A vote in favor of the proposal is a "must," both from the standpoint of savings of thousands of dollars in insurance premiums and in protection of lives and property. The present system is woefully inadequate to cope with fire danger engendered by the rapid growth of the city. The fire department, in the matter of equipment and other facilities, just hasn't kept step with the progress of the community. No matter how efficient the manpower may be (and we are quick to acknowledge that it is among the best in the state), the department must have sufficient "tools" with which to work.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters has warned that insurance premiums here will be hiked materially if improvements are not made at once. Only by the sufferance of these insurance underwriters have we been able to keep the present low rates over a long period of years.

The public has been fully apprised of how the money will be spent. There isn't an item listed in the bond proposal that isn't absolutely essential if the department is to be brought anywhere near its required efficiency.

There has been no organized opposition to the bond issue and we've heard of no individual objections to the proposal. We hope that the issue will be overwhelmingly approved Tuesday so that the department may begin at once to make the improvements and expansion that have been so long neglected here.

Too Many Lights

Friday when a truck driver applied his brakes to stop for the Eighteenth street and Louisville avenue red light the vehicle slid into the path of an automobile going in the opposite direction and a tragic crash resulted. One occupant of the car was killed and others were injured.

The passenger car crossed Eighteenth street under a green signal, according to police. But, the light turned red before the truck reached the intersection. In accordance with the law, the driver attempted to stop.

That light, changing when it did, cost a woman's life and caused a man, the truck driver, to be charged with negligent homicide. The Eighteenth street and Louisville avenue intersection has been the scene of numerous wrecks, a number of them fatal.

Chances are if the light had not been there at all many of these tragedies would have been avoided.

Traffic should be allowed to move on Louisville and not be obstructed by a fast-changing light at the intersection of such a secondary street. The number of cars traversing Louisville avenue exceeds the number on Eighteenth more than 100 to one. Why delay 100 cars on such a busy thoroughfare for the benefit of one car on a secondary street?

The situation at Eighteenth and Louisville is duplicated at several other intersections in Monroe and to several intersections on Cypress street in West Monroe. Any driver familiar with these intersections knows that it is dangerous to enter them from a side street, even though he has a green light, until he has made sure that no traffic is approaching from either direction. By the time he has made sure that it is safe to enter the street the light is ready to change against him. Therefore, as a rule, he barely has a few seconds to enter the street. If there were no lights he could enter at any time the highway was clear.

Junking the traffic lights at such intersections and erecting prominent warning signs for traffic coming off secondary streets onto main arteries would also eliminate many of the often discussed traffic snarls. It's plain logic.

When a driver knows he's going onto a main artery which has the right-of-way he'll make sure the coast is clear. If he's the type of fellow who wouldn't make sure, then he wouldn't respect a traffic light.

It Was Different Then

Some years ago, in a delightful era of nostalgic memory, the Fourth of July opened and closed with a bang. And what a bang it was, with all young America signing its own Declaration of Independence with a rousing, exuberant outburst of noise-making.

The explosion of firecrackers and cannon crackers started with the first flush of dawn, after a trial run the night before, and continued throughout the day and into the night when the celebrators refuel their enthusiasm with flare bombs and roman candles. Waving flags and parades helped kindle the demonstration of patriotism.

The Fourth, in those days, also was a great occasion for family picnics and reunions in shaded groves along the roadside. Bring baskets well filled, was the supplication, and the women folk answered by feverishly striving to outdo each other in laying the best spread of home-cooked delicacies.

Some arrived in wagons or surreys, a few in the sputtering, rackety automobiles of early make. Roughly-hewn tables and benches were used, or tableclothes were stretched on the ground, for the feasting.

Then came the games and contests for all ages, followed by the program with a preacher or lawyer making a speech and others giving recitations or musical selections. It was an inexpensive affair, and perhaps corny by present standards, but everyone had a grand time.

In those times life was at a more leisurely, homey pace. But this is the age of speed, and the old-fashioned picnic has been abandoned as passe and backwoodsish by a generation that prefers to spend the Fourth dashing off to a beach or the mountains to get away from it all, though it entails bumping and crowding with myriads of others with the same idea. In most areas firecrackers now are frowned upon by the law as being too dangerous. And yet the casualties they inflicted were insignificant compared to the carnage of modern holiday highway traffic.

The clock cannot be turned backward. But it might be concluded, in drawing a contrast between the earthy, enjoyable bygone Fourths and frantic, costly celebrations of the present, that progress has its price—that somewhere along the road something good and fine has been lost.

Poor Business

Tere are certain fundamental rules of business which apply to concerns regardless of size if they are to be successful. In fact, the larger the business the more need there is for careful operation, the chance of loss increasing proportionately to the size of the operation.

The most tremendous business in the nation today is government, and one which should call for the most careful administration. This is far from being the case, however, as has been proved many times in the past.

The government owned many war-built structures for which there was no longer immediate use. They were either given away or sold for a few cents on the dollar of original cost. Then the government decides it needs one of these buildings for storage purposes, and leases it at commercial rates.

It has been learned the Commodity Credit Corporation leased many buildings to private operators at greatly reduced rates, only to lease them back for storage purposes at commercial rates, and to the great profit of those who have been thus favored.

The government spent many hundreds of millions of dollars building warehouses. Many fell into private hands through sale or lease. Now they are again under government control at high rates of rental, which hardly passes for good business. One reporter describes it as "robbery without firearms." This appears to be a realistic description.

Rainmakers Washed Out

Stories of rainmakers signing up farmers in vast areas of the west in enterprises to loosen the clouds scientifically have disappeared from the press. A month or two ago these undertakings were being launched in a dozen states.

The reason? Too much rain. Before the modern-day rainmakers could get started, the deluge began. Kansas has become a quagmire. Many other states in the former dust bowl country have begun to worry about mud instead of drouth.

Widespread testing of scientific techniques for inducing clouds to irrigate parched land must be postponed until next year at least. Extent of plans for "cloud seeding" under way early this spring indicated that the question of whether rain could be produced artificially would be settled once and for all this summer.

The rain will, of course, be good for the crops that have not been washed out. If it stops raining in time, that is.

Man Playing the Typewriter

George Jean Nathan, the critic (now on a holiday), returned to his quill to pen a sugary report on "Seventeen," so delighted was he by its youthful magic and charm. An earful - eyeful - heartful. . . . Martha Raye is on the highways (bound for a Vegas joy-spot) and on the mend after a Bad Scare. An overdose of sleeping poton. . . . Reports from the De-Mille sets (making "The Greatest Show on Earth") have Dorothy Lamour and Betty Hutton leading the score of feuds among the cast. . . . Show biz is big biz: Variety reveals Disney's "Alice in Wonderland" must gross $5 million to break even. . . . "It Happened One Night" is revived at the Museum of Art. This gay Guy-Gal film has had many imitators and no competitors. . . . A new ditty-dandy that beguiles this tune-hunter is "These Things I Offer You." . . . From the July Silver Screen: "Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh are terribly in love, but have no marriage plans." Theirs was the merger of the month.

McCall's discloses if you're hurt and do not shed tears — you invite ulcers. So see a Bette Davis movie and stay well, pal. . . . The picture "M" is a deft horrifier that calls for encores in your nightmares. Don't bring the tots. . . . "Two on the Aisle," which was snubbed in New Haven, was embraced in Philly. . . . "klahoma!" attracted a so-so reaction when it prepped in the suburbs. . . . Broadway has only one serious play: "The Rose Tattoo". . . . When we first spotlighted the many peculiar "charity" hustlers (clogging the Broadway pavements), the complaints were heavy. Dis't Att'y McDonald finally confirmed it on the front pages—revealing less than 30c of your dollar (to these so-and-sos) goes to the "causes" they represent. And there's no law against them. Then make one!

Directors, scenarists and others named by the House Un-American Activities group are having their dirty names deleted from film adverts. S'bout time. . . . You can see a photo of Durante when his nose was button-size in Collier's. At the age of three. . . . Martha Stewart takes over Vivian Blaine's role in "Guys and Dolls" while La Blaine recesses to Hollywood to do "Skirts Ahoy" for MGM. . . . A fresh slice of Movieville cutie-pie is named Sally Forrest. She costars in two pictures due this week. . . . The reprise of Benchley shorts in neighborhood bujous indicates they haven't lost their funshiny quality. Most howlsome is the one quaintly tagged: "Sex Life of a Polyp." . . . The movie, "He Ran All the Way," manages to be exciting despite a plot concerning a killer who threatens to slay Shelley Winters' mother and brother. So she falls in love with him.

Tamara Hayes is the name of a new caressing canary. She will be close to your ears. Reminds you of Lena. . . . The dullble-features unreeled on CBS (after midnight) are suitable for that hour. THESE DAYS

ROLE OF LOUIS JOHNSON

On all sides, it is admitted that Louis Johnson was the best and most constructive witness before the Russell committee. General Albert Wedemeyer had, in many respects, cleared the record of the confusions that Dean Acheson had created by long and intricate ambles into matters for which few of the senators were prepared.

For instance, when Dean Acheson said that there were no Communists in the state department, the senators let it pass because in the present ense Alger Hiss is in prison. However, they had a grand opening for a discussion of the Communist penetration into the far eastern division of the state department. This, they missed — perhaps deliberately as Dean Acheson's skill as an artful dodger already had them down.

The testimony of General Wedemeyer and Louis Johnson was therefore refreshing because here were men who hid nothing, acknowledged rror and presented the case without the inhibitions which had marked all the officers of government, except Admiral Sherman.

Yet, for some reason, the senators overlooked an amazingly important fact—one which stared them in the face all through the Wedemeyer and Johnson testimony. General Albert Wedemeyer was deputy chief of staff in charge of plans and combat operations from November 1948 to September 1949. Louis Johnson was secretary of defense from March 1949 to September 1950.

Part of General Wedemeyer's duty was to plan for prospective wars. This is supposed to go on all the time in the armed services, so that this country is not caught off base. As Japan is our bastion in Asia and as the possession of Korea by a foe imperils Japan, General Wedemeyer, in charge of planning, must have had a plan for the defense of Korea.

I know that there was such a plan and that it had been regarded as settled policy but was abandoned on June 30, 1950. Louis Johnson put this country into the Korean war with ground forces. But what became of the Wedemeyer plan or shall we call it the joint chiefs of staff plan? If, as Johnson testified, Acheson is responsible for putting ground troops into Korea, what kind of an organization does our government have if the state department can set aside an accepted military plan? Since when is the state department technically provisioned to engage in military planning? Or has diplomacy disposed of military expertness?

Here was an opening for the senators that would have shed light upon the Korean war. The original plan should have been produced for the record. It would have shown that it called for an air-navy operation with no ground troops whatsoever. For our problem was not to occupy Korea but to prevent Soviet Russia from occupying Korea.

Had this broad avenue been traversed, we should have been forced into a discussion of the use of ground troops in all the fighting in which we are planning to engage in so many parts of the world. Can a nation of 153,000,000 afford to produce ground troops to hold an entire world? What will such a program do to our economy? What will it do to our standard of living? What must it ultimately do to our liberties?

Such men as Senator Kerr of Oklahoma attack General MacArthur as though he were the issue before us, continuing a narrowly partisan and meaningless feud. The Russell committee performed a significant service to the nation in shifting the basis of the investigation from the dismissal of General MacArthur to the broad survey of policy and purpose. It would not, without more intense preparation, go further than it has.

Yet, what we need most is a clear grasp of our historic role in relation to our social and economic system. This takes more intellectual stamina than most of our public men are willing and capable of giving to it. For instance, we need to analyze the relationship of war to the welfare state and the prospect of so deep a deprecitation of our productive plant and equipment, including housing, that win or lose, we have damaged our own civilization. This has happened before in history, for instance, when Alexander the Great ruined the hellenic civilization by conquering the world. It need not happen to the United States if we seek the truth diligently.

DOWN SOUTH

NEED MORE LOBBYISTS

In the course of a recent radio address, President Truman made a very important point. He emphasized the need for more individual citizens to let the congress know how they feel about the serious matters facing us at the present time.

Of course, if the president jumped to the wrong conclusion in believing that the more individuals who wrote their congressmen, the more individuals congress would hear from who agreed with him, that still does not subtract from the soundness of his statement that we need more lobbyists.

The president didn't say "lobbyists" when referring to this need; in fact, he spoke of lobbyists rather disparagingly. However, anyone who tries to influence the opinion and the vote of a congressman is a lobbyist—and it makes no difference why he does it.

The government itself is the greatest lobbyist we have. It spends millions and millions of dollars trying to influence sentiment in favor of its current activiies and proposed measures.

There are also many lobbyists active in behalf of "special interests," as the president called them. That is all right, too. Anyone who takes a stand at all does so in behalf of a special interest—either his own or one that he thinks generally desirable.

It would be very difficult indeed for anyone to say categorically that the position he takes is alone the one that is best for the people generally and for the nation at large. In fact, the president is about the only one presumptious enough to make such a statement.

But the lobbyist whose opinion is most valuable and whose lobbying is most needed is that individual citizens whospeaks his mind to his congressman and does so on his own initiative, without being requested to do so or influenced to do so.

This individual lobbying is the heart and soul of the American system of government, anyway. The kind of government we have still depends upon the decisions of the individual citizens. We have not yet reached the point, as in Iran or Argentina or Russia, where everybody votes one way—or else.

There is entirely too great a tendency on the part of many people these days, both in public office and out of public office, to attempt to smear those who don't agree with them by calling

PUBLIC FORUM

(Editor's note: The proposal to annex McGuire and Splane additions to the city of West Monroe has brought comment pro and con. In reply to a letter by Postmaster Oliver W. Boyd, Jr., requesting that the proposal be given consideration, F. C. Childers, Sr., and early settler of Splane Addition, has written the letter below.)

June 30, 1951.

Monroe Morning World,
Monroe, La.,
Dear Sir:

Please print the following in your Public Forum column:

To Ouachita Parish Property Owners:

Appearing in the June 22, 1951, issue of the West Monroe paper was a statement by Postmaster Oliver W. Boyd, Jr., 2602 North 11th street, McGuire addition, West Monroe, to the effect that many residents of McGuire and Splane additions would welcome the opportunity to investigate the advantages or disadvantages of possibly being incorporated into the city of West Monroe. He outlined the advantages which, in his opinion, would accrue to the property owners should the step be taken.

Since this question has arisen in the past and been settled only after heated discussion, it would seem that now would be an opportune time to dispose of it for all time. In fairness to those who would be affected by the annexation of McGuire and Splane additions to the city of West Monroe, facts relevant to the case should be set forth in order that a decision dictated by reason might be reached.

It is unfortunate that some persons may be unacquainted with the reasoning that lay behind the selection of this particular area by earlier settlers for their homes. These men and women bought their property and built thereon because it lay beyond the city—not because they wanted to become part of West Monroe. They bought here so that they would not have to pay city taxes; they bought here so that they would not have to buy permits to give them permission to build on their own land, and they bought here so that they might not be hedged in by city ordinances and the restrictions that go with them. These are the reasons for the original purchasing of homesites in McGuire and Splane addition.

According to Mr. Boyd, he pays 50 cents a week to have his garbage removed. It is Mr. Boyd's privilege to pay what he wishes, but Barney Brothers run a garbage disposal truck to pick up other residents' refuse for $1.50 a month, which divided by the four and one-third weeks in a month figures slightly less than 35 cents a week. As to the garbage disposal furnished by the city of West Monroe, it has been my experience, and that of other citizens who own or have owned property in West Monroe, that the collection of garbage there has been none too satisfactory.

Mr. Boyd declares that our gas rates are higher. In that he is quite correct. We pay 40 cents per thousand cubic feet while Monroe and West Monroe pay 30 cents for the same amount. This, however, should be rectified shortly. Just before the gas company's franchise for this area expired a few years ago, the citizens of McGuire and Splane additions employed the Honorable John McCormick to represent them in a suit against the gas company to force an equitable rate. Mr. McCormick brought a representative from the gas company to address a citizens' mass meeting. This representative told the people that if they would withdraw their suit that when the company's franchise expired shortly the Monroe and West Monroe rate would be increased to 40 cents per thousand cubic feet with the new franchise or, failing that, the rate for the two additions would be cut to 30 cents. Upon the advise of the Honorable John McCormick, the people accepted the proposition. The franchise expired. The franchise was renewed. No change in rate was made. An official of the gas company told me later that the man who came with the lawyer who was supposed to be representing us had no authority to make such a proposition on the company's behalf. We are going to hold another meeting, be capably represented by another lawyer, and petition the Public Service Commission at Baton Rouge for the promised cut and 25 per cent refund of all bills paid the company since the expiration of the old franchise. Considering the political implication of such a petion, there is little doubt of the outcome.

As to insurance rates in this area, a good home, built of brick and properly spaced in relation to other buildings, rates a yearly premium of only $4.00 per thousand. It is to be questioned if a cheaper rate can be found anywhere in the Twin Cities.

Let us look into the higher water rates we pay. In West Monroe, where there are no water meters, the rate is based upon the number of outlets. The average water bill under this set-up is around $5.70 every three months. A limited survey indicated the average water bill for individual dwellings in McGuire and Splane additions rarely exceeds the minimum rate of $2.00 per month. This, upon the face of things, would indicate a 10-cent-per month saving for city dwellers. Since there is always a shortage of water in West Monroe during the dry summer months, it is unlikely that

In Washington With

BASCOM TIMMONS

In spite of the alarming fact that the Korean war is pushing the United States to an economic danger point, as the current congressional debate on new tax legislation has clearly indicated, most of the best informed sources here believe that Soviet Russia is eager for the fighting to cease.

Only our intelligence services seem to realize that the Korean conflict has gone beyond any point which the Soviets, as well as the United States, foresaw, and that it threatens serious interference with the Communist timetable for Asia.

While Washington has been absorbed with the MacArthur investigation and domestic political problems, some few far eastern specialists have observed signs of alarm in Communist circles lest the new Red government of China be seriously weakened functionally by the continuance of a war into which it plunged before it was strong enough to sustain such a prolonged ordeal. These observers note that the first serious peace feelers from Moscow coincided with the termination of exports to China by the European countries. The resulting shortages and they will be huge will have to be supplied by Russia, which is concerned about the additional load on its own production and transportation facilities.

The alternative to peace negotiations with the Soviet is the continuance of the debilitating Korean war, which has already cost this country in casualties and dollars more than we ever dreamed could be poured into a little and insignificant peninsula.

In one year, the cost of the Korean war—not including rearmament or any expenditure to advance our own security— has been a stupendous 10 to 15 billion dollars, an unheard of amount for such a small conflict. That refers to the sheer waste or loss, the cost of waging war, which always turns out to be much higher than original estimates. It does not include a host of items which will eventually be included in the overall cost.

When a peace is finally concluded, the United Nations will be called on to shoulder the expense of rehabilitating south Korea, the Republic of Korea has made clear. That includes 4½ billion dollars of destroyed property, and for such portion of that as the U. N. may decide should be restored, the United States will be called upon to foot most of the bill.

Clear and present danger—Sen. Styles Bridges (Rep.-N. H.) one of the more nimble solons, confessed in debate the other day that even he fears the fast moving limousines of government officials, who pull in and out of traffic with abandon.

Speaking on a motion to reduce the number of government chauffeur driven cars, he asserted that a senator "ought to know that he cannot go to a public function, public or private, in Washington without being almost run over by the chauffeur driven cars of persons who hold positions in the executive branch of the government."

He thought it would help if congress required all such equipages to be painted yellow. Then, with something of a non sequitur, he concluded that senators could attend diplomatic receiptions without risk of being run down by a government car.

Sparkling repartee— Administration defenders of Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall do not include testy Rep. John E. Rankin (Dem.-Miss.) who answered defense of Marshall by Rep. John W. MacCormack (Dem.-Mass.) house majority leader, with this story:

"When I was a boy I was standing on a corner in a small town listening to a conversation by a group of men, when a pretty girl of about 30 passed. One of the men tried to tease this lady by saying, "What a pity you can't get married!"

"She turned to him and said, 'Why if I was half as easy to please as your wife was, I could have been married long ago."

Angelo Parti:

Our Children

CHILDREN'S EYESIGHT

The long summer evenings often entice children to keep on reading long after the light has faded to where reading becomes a strain on the eyes. Children have to be reminded that reading in a poor light is bad for their eyes. Either go into the house and turn on a good light or stop reading. They won't like this but neither will they like to have to wear glasses to help aching eyes.

The condition of the eyes has an important effect on the general health, disposition, and will to work effectively. Defective eyesight can turn a healthy child into an ailing, complaining, failing youngster who is very unhappy and likely to make a good many other people unhappy along with him.

Sometimes children have an eye defect that does not show. The short-sighted child soon shows his difficulty but the one that has some defect that is not so easily detected may go his suffering way for a long time before he gets help. Any child who is failing in schoolwork should have his eyes examined the very first thing. Weariness, inattention, distaste for study, poor appetite, indifference to play can be the result of poor vision and the wise thing to do is to call in the eye specialist. If he prescribes glasses have them made at once and make certain that the child wears them.

Children are not inclined to like wearing glasses. They have to be encouraged to do so. The teacher should be told that the child should wear his glasses in school. It is not unusual for such a youngster to take them off once he is out of sight of home and keep them in his pocket until he returns. Wearing them in his pocket is not much help and if the teacher knows about them she will see that they are used to good purpose.

The books children use should be examined as to the size and clearness of the type, the quality of the paper. A gray blur can work havoc with a pair of perfectly good eyes. Usually school texts are selected with this point in mind, but children get hold of cheap paper books, such as comics, many of which are an insult to eyesight.

School children, especially those who are growing rapidly, should have their eyes examined by an eye specialist every six months, between times if any evidence of eyestrain is apparent, to prevent any strain on them.

YESPER LEADER

DR. E. D. HOLLOWAY

YESPER SERVICE IS SLATED HERE

Will Be Held On Lawn At Courthouse, Starting At 6:15 P. M.

An evening vesper service for youth will be held this evening at 6:15 to 7:15 o'clock on the east lawn of the Ouachita parish courthouse.

The service will be sponsored by the First Methodist, the First Christian and the Presbyterian Churches.

Truman H. McCrea, Jr. will conduct a program of music with the 50 piece Ouachita parish summer band of which he is the leader. E. I. Keith, director of music of the First Baptist Church in West Monroe, will have general charge of the music presented aside from that of the band, and a short meditation will be given by Dr. Ernest Duncan Holloway, pastor of the Monroe Presbyterian Church.

There will be excellent music and the public is cordially invited to attend.

meters here would be taken out and flat rates assigned when there is repeatedly proposed action to install meters throughout West Monroe to restrain residents from using unnecessary amounts of water. Since municipally-owned utilities are not controlled by the Public Service Commission, there would be nothing to prevent the city from imposing a higher water rate upon McGuire and Splane additions after they were annexed instead of decreasing the present rate.

The streets of McGuire and Splane additions are well kept by the parish. Some of the streets are already black-topped and soon they all will be paved at no extra expense to the property owner. West Monroe is already having difficulty in maintaining its present streets.

So far as police protection is concerned, we have had no robberies or bad accidents such as have plagued West Monroe, which maintains a police force. The sheriff's department, on call day and night, is located less than two miles from us. Usually there is a state trooper patrolling U. S. 80 through Splane addition if any help is needed.

As to fire protection, we have had very few fires. Annexation would probably help us little there. When a house opposite the new fire station on Claiborne street in West Monroe caught on fire last year, it was totally destroyed. If needed, the parish maintains a fire department in Monroe which we can call.

A property owner in McGuire or Splane addition is not required to make a trip to city hall to buy a permit to build or repair. Among free people that is as it should be. City sewers would not benefit existing dwellings with their properly installed septic tanks and distribution lines. Even if we desired it, at the rate sewer lines are being laid in West Monroe, if we were annexed and no additional sewer tax levied upon us, it is doubtful if this service could be provided during our time.

Summing it all up, it would appear that McGuire and Splane additions are singularly blessed just as they are. Annexation to West Monroe could only bring us restrictions, city occupational licenses and city taxes. In this day of higher and ever-increasing taxes, one might be suspected of flying in the face of Providence who advocated a new tax or an additional tax on his neighbor and himself.

Immediately after reading the statement in last week's Ouachita, I contacted as many of the citizens of the two additions as I could. I failed to find even one who desired annexation with West Monroe.

Very truly yours,
F. C. CHILDERS,SR.

"SMOOTH WORK"

Monroe, La.
June 29, 1951

To The Editor:

If you remember, only a short time ago I told the people of the state what would happen when the extra session of the state legislature was called together. I am sure you know by now I was right. There were as you know thirty-two bills introduced in this body and they were all passed and have been sent to the governor for his signature and they are by this time, the law of the state.

You must admit this was one of the smoothest working pieces of machinery that the people of the state has ever known. Imagine, however, I do not know this, that most of the representatives and senators did not read these bills and therefore knew nothing of what was contained in them. On their return home, you people should make it your business to ask them if they knew what they were voting for and see what answer you get from them. I would presume these bills had been previously written, even months ago by the Long administration and were ready to be dumped into the hopper when the boys arrived in Baton Rouge. The mere fact they all passed without much debate, if any, goes to show you on the face of it they were all administration bills.

Probably you have noticed further these bills were not discussed in the newspapers very much. The way all this was carried out leads anyone to believe there was something "dead up the creek" — it to my way of thinking smells somewhat bad and shows on the face of it that it was purely political, and you, the people of the state, got a rotten deal out of it. You had gone to sleep at the switch and the whole deal was put over on you. This, however, could not have been possible if your representatives and senators, whom you elected with your votes, had been looking out for your interest. They could have been looking out for their interest instead of your interest. All in all, to say the least of this latest deal that was put over on the good people of this state, was a grand sham and shame done with the blessings of Democracy.

No, they didn't want to vote any more taxes for you to pay, they said, but they only wanted a little more authority to shuttle some money out of one department over into another department. They wanted it fixed this way so they could spend it. Coming down to the truth of the matter how much do the people know about how much money we have in any department of the state department? They tell us we have a surplus over there and one over here etc, but do we know that to be true facts in the case? If I don't miss my guess, there will be some of these departments of state that will not have any money to shuttle. By next May when the new governor takes office it will have been spent and we will have received but very little benefit from it. You know when Governor Long took office he found twenty-five million dollars in the treasury that had been left there from the Sam Jones and Jimmie Davis administrations. This was earmarked (or at least most of it) to start off paying the old age pension in the state. Now, my friends, let's see how much is left in the treasury when Mr. Long goes out of office next May.

Now, there is a move on in this state to bring out a man that the entire Long forces can agree on for our next governor and they are working now day and night to pull this deal over you (the voters) and get their man (Friday) back in office. I warn you now to be aware of all such deals. You know the Long forces are in power and they will do everything they can in the coming election to retain and hold that power. All these fusses, disagreements and feuds they are having will not amount to anything. They are playing politics to keep the people in the dark and they are working to fool you (the voters) into voting for their candidate. As long as you fight among yourselves they can keep the real issues hid from you and persuade you to vote for their man.

I would think now is the time to have a complete house cleaning in Louisiana. We need one. What you say about it? We have spent more money and got less benefits out of it than any administration Louisiana has ever had. Don't you think it's time to quit being misled? It's time for us (all of us) to wake up and do something about all this wasteful and extortion spending of our tax dollars.

Let's all get busy and do something about it.

I am, your for better government.

Sincerely,
D. E. (Boss) Bagwell

P. S. I was a friend and supporter of the late Senator Huey P. Long.

DOROTHY DIX

Job For Mother

Reader Urges Independence For Middle-Aged Women

DEAR MISS DIX: What does life hold for women between 50 and 60? Why do our children think that at that age we should be willing to fold our hands and sit in the chimney corner with no interests except in their interests? Why do they think that it would be terrible for mother to go out and get a job and earn her own living, or even to marry again? Why can't they realize that we find it hard to live in even our children's homes and want our own, and our own independence and maybe somebody to love us. I am in my early fifties, strong and healthy, and I am tired of being ON THE SHELF

DOROTHY DIX

ANSWER: Good for you sister! Up and at 'em. Now that you have got to the rebellion point, get out and do something about it. Head a revolt of middle-aged women against their dutiful, loving children who are enslaving them in the name of kindness.

Everyone knows that it seldom adds to the serenity of a home to have a mother-in-law in it. Most in-laws resent her presence. It brings about jealousies, interferences, daily conflicts of will, a thousand unpleasantnesses, and no matter how much her children love mother they would be happier without her.

SHE NEEDS AN INTEREST

And mother would be happier away from them. All of her life she has been busy. Now she has nothing to do. She has had her place in the sun. Now she is only John's or Mary's mother. And years of running her own house have totally unfitted her to live in another woman's house and take orders instead of give them.

Praise be that women are seeing the light at last, and instead of mother festooning herself like the old woman of the sea around her children's necks when father dies and spending the remainder of her days preparing for her latter end, she hustles out and gets her a job and often has a more interesting life than she ever had before. Furthermore, in the great majority of cases, mother has to work no harder for a pay envelope than she has to work in her children's home for none.

A dozen times I have said in this column that women quit work too soon. Life may not begin for them at 50, but a new career may if they have the courage to attempt it, and they are wrong and foolish to settle down and be dependent on their children. They should strike out for themselves. Make their own livings and be happy and independent.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 25 years of age, and my wife is 32. We have a baby three weeks old. My wife is an epileptic and last week, while having an attack, she fell with the baby. Luckily, neither was injured but there is always the chance that one or both could be hurt this way in the future.

I am not financially able to provide someone to stay with them at all times, so I took my wife to her sister's. However, this arrangement is complicated by the fact that her sister has three children. My father and step-mother are willing to take the baby, but to this my wife will not agree. She says the baby is hers and she will not be separated from him. I am definitely confused as to what to do. Please give me your advice.

GENE

ANSWER: Have you talked this problem over with your doctor? Perhaps he could get some help for you from a visiting nursing service. I certainly agree that your wife and baby should not be left alone, and in her present state of health it probably wouldn't be wise to press the matter of separating her and the baby.

If you could get help from a visiting nurse, your father, stepmother and perhaps a neighbor or two might be able to offer supplementary assistance. Otherwise there seems to be no alternative but for your wife to go back to her sister. During such times as it is absolutely necessary for your wife to be alone with the child, the baby could be kept in his crib and your wife wouldn't have to carry him at all. That, at least, would avert the possibility of injury to the baby in the event of your wife having an attack.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a married woman with two children. For five years I was in love with another man who was younger than myself, and much better educated than my husband. I have just realized that I wasted five precious years. Now I am determined to make it up to my family and I think I can, because there has been no separation and my children are very young. Can I live down the past and be the kind of wife and mother I should be? X. L.

ANSWER: You are fortunate to have come through this affair with nothing worse than a bad conscience. Having realized your mistake, you can now appreciate your family and the good things of life you have and the past will soon be forgotten.

DOROTHY DIX sheds new light on an old problem in leaflet D-3, "Mothers-in-Law." To obtain a copy, send a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Miss Dix, c/o this newspaper, P. O. Box 98, Times Square Station, New York 18, N. Y.

them lobbyists while terming those who do agree with them as patriotic citizens who are speaking their mind. There is no actual difference between the two. Each is simply exercising his traditional American right of freedom of speech and petition.

Of course, when it comes to methods, that's a different question. For intance, the "five percenters" and the "mink coaters" and the "RFCers" were all lobbyists. But they betrayed the principle of freedom of speech by accepting bribes. That is going entirely beyond the realm of expressing an honest opinion on matters at issue.

We must never reach the point in this country where we are intolerant of other peoples' opinions. It should be perfectly proper for anyone to set forth his views who wishes to do so, provided he recognizes that all others have the same right. It is all right for the president, for instance, to expound his views to the people on a nation-wide hookup. But he should never take the position that those who oppose his views represent "special interests" and he is the only one representing the "consumers." He might be wrong. It might be just the reverse.

At any rate, let your congressmen know what you are thinking—and your other public officials, too, for that matter. We need more lobbyists!

Dick Bunting and Frank Hildrith of a Jackson, Mich., bowling team recently bowled identical scores of 152-199-146 for a 497 score.

4 LOCAL NEGROES

four were wounded. There apparently was no connection between the three cases.

Jackson, on parole from the state penitentiary after serving a sentence for arson, had threatened his common-law wife, according to police. The woman involved said Jackson had bailed her out of the city jail, after first threatening to kill her.

Police said Friday night that when the shotgun was discharged through the bedroom window, the charge penetrated a feather mattress before striking the sleeping children' Impact was slowed, or the children would have been killed at the close range, officers said.

Jackson had been the object of a five-hour dragnet Friday night and had eluded officers for about three and one-half hours before the children were shot.

Police said the fight between the two Negro women started over the common - law husband of Mable Cummins, who did the shooting.

According to the story given police, the Cummins woman was within arms reach when she fired the .22 rifle, wounding the Higgs woman in the head.

The wounded woman picked up a stick, police said, and knocked the gun to the ground. Officers arrested Mable Cummins shortly afterward.

All patients were taken to the Conway Memorial hospital. None were reported in critical condition.

Three miles surfaced in 1946 included parts of Forsythe and Roberts streets in ward 10; Ridge avenue in Splane addition in ward five, and a portion of Bon Air drive in Edgewater Gardens in ward ten.

In 1945 the parish blacktopped three miles of road, including the old Bayou road from Guthrie to U. S. highway 165 in ward six and various streets in Calhoun.

This work, Mr. Montgomery said, has been done with no additional cost to the taxpayers, as Ouachita parish does not have a road tax. Funds for this work are provided from a general fund surplus and with assistance funds given by the state. All work of this kind must be approved first by the police jury and then submitted to the state for approval.

All roads listed in the above improvement program are mail and school bus routes or connecting links.

portunity to prepare youth and adults for a complete life adjustment which will make them good, productive, and useful citizens of Louisiana and America," he said.

JUDGE KENNON

amendment. He blasted the "spoils" system saying that it "must and shall be abolished."

Kennon is one of about twelve political figures in the state who have entertained the idea of seeking the governorship. Gov. Long, who cannot succeed himself under Louisiana law, has not announced his support to any announced candidate yet.

Lt. Governor William J. Dodd has said he would see the governor's job but he apparently will not have the support of Long. Dodd and the chief executive have been feuding for the past several months.

Without directing criticism at personalities, Kennon's platform conflicted with many of the existing administration policies.

In addition to the civil service recommendations, Kennon's platform called for:

1. Repeal of the two-cent gasoline tax imposed in 1948.

2. Businesslike administration of the highway commission through a "non - partisan, non-political board of representative citizens."

3. Voting machines in "each and every voting precinct of the state."

4. Continued payment of the $50-a-month old age assistance and "other portions of the welfare program." He pointed out that to continue the welfare program the two per cent sales tax would have to continue also.

5. Bringing new industry to the state.

6. More rights to cities. He said he would see the removal of the legislature's power to change the form of city government and to take the revenues away from a municipality without the approval of its citizens.

7. Remove mental and penal institutions, as well as welfare agencies, from the control of partision politicians.

8. Encouragement to agriculture with the objective of having "every rural acre" devoted to some form of agriculture.

9. Cooperation with the state's medical resources to help improve health conditions.

10. Prison reform. He called the state penitentiary at Angola a center of "unbelievable degradation."

11. A modern parole system. In calling for an "intelligent, politically free parole system," Kennon charged that the present system was "peppered with abuses due to political interferences."

The Minden jurist also called for more economy in government, both state and federal. He charged that individual incentive and initiative are being "sapped by high taxes and creeping socialism."

The one woman on Anatahan, Mrs. Kazuko Higa, 29, managed to slip away in June, 1950. She returned to Okinawa and began writing relatives of others still at Anatahan.

Juni Inuoue, 43, a former engineer petty officer in the Japanese navy, was taken off the island earlier this month.

He told a U.S. navy rescue team that the others were cowed by Ichiro Nakagawa, 32, who manned a machine gun and threatened to kill anyone who tried to give up.

short time later for a short overnight cruise down the Potomac.

One of his chief congressional opponents, Senator Taft (R-Ohio), said meanwhile that price rollbacks and livestock slaughtering quotas are "wholly unnecessary to effective price control."

Taft made the statement in a telegram to Palmer Hoyt, editor of the Denver Post, who had noted that Taft voted against rollbacks and quotas and asked the Ohioan to suggest a positive program for controlling inflation.

Senate - approved controls legislation, not yet passed on by the house, would outlaw the livestock slaughtering quotas put in effect by the Office of Price Stabilization as an anti - black market measure.

sibly a big new military operation somewhere."

It was not until Hammerich listened to a news broadcast this morning that he learned of the armistice invitation.

A short time later he was instructed to unload the Jutlandia's 103 patients by 2 p. m. The ship was ready to move almost at a moment's notice. Before the shining white vessel pulled out into midharbor after transferring its wounded to the U. S. navy hospital ship have, Commodore Hammerich mailed several letters to his family in Copenhagen.

His wife has long been interested in social service work, too. She is president of the "Save the Children Fund" in Denmark. They have three daughters and four sons. One of the sons is a writer for the Danish newspaper "Politiken." A fifth son was killed fighting for the Danish underground in World War II.

Saturday that navy officers tried to negotiate a cease-fire, but marines refused to obey cease-fire orders. Army forces were said to have captured naval headquarters and the Memorial bridge across the Chaophya river, and several admirals were reported to have deserted to the government. A government official said he thought the conflict would be over "in a day or two.")

The highway outside Turner's home was turned into a corridor of fire by navy forces shooting from Lumphini Park, an idyllic pleasure place. The army fired its artillery from the Bangkok Sports club, a race course.

The U.S. embassy and a residential area housing many diplomats were almost in the middle. But Turner said no American or other foreign casualties were known to have occurred.

Habbaniya, Shuaiba (All in Iraq), and Kuwait.

"If they are trying to create a third world war, I will tell you flatly that Britain would be destroyed in such a war long before Persia. If they are just trying to threaten us Iran is not freightened by bluffs."

Nationalist extremists have threatened in the past that any British use of force would lead to intervention by Soviet Russia, under a 1921 treaty between Moscow and Tehran.

Britain, however, contends that her military moves are dictated solely to protect British technicians working in Iran for the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company and seeks to protect British property rights through action in the international court of justice at The Hague.

Britain opened her case for an injunction before the world court today and declared in a note to Tehran the crisis arises solely from the Iranian government's attitude on the seizure of AIOC installations.

sixth day past its first anniversary.

In the south Korean port of Pusan, the 8,457-ton Jutlandia was ready to leave on two-hour notice for Wonsan, 80 miles north of the 38th parallel.

Commodore K l Hammeric, comma. ding the ship, had it emptied of patients and prepared quarters for possible conferences.

Counseling patience, a high Allied officer in Tokyo said, "folks ought to calm down a little. It's my guess that not a thing will happen for hours at least."

There was no hint of any time limit in Ridgway s invitation which still was being broadcast repeatedly in 45 languages, with emphasis on Chinese and Korean.

In Washington it was reported that the United States would like to negotiate an armistice on the present general military line rather than precisely on the old 38th parallel boundary of north and south Korea.

Except in one small area in the west, United Nations forces are north of 38, in some places as far as 20 miles north.

sentatives, decided to move nothing, including the bodies until morning. That was to allow a chance for investigators to reach the area and because a solid line of cars driven by curiosity seekers had blocked the muddy, one-way logging road leading to within a mile of the wreckage.

Nevertheless, hearses were dispatched from mortuaries in Loveland, Greeley and Ft. Collins to stand by.

State Patrol Chief Gilbert R. Carrell used a radio - equipped plane to guide ground parties to the wreck, worst in Colorado history with its toll, including six officials of the rural electrification administration and seven children among the 45 passengers and five crew members.

The wreckage was first sighted by Ralph Johnson, Wyoming director of aeronautics and a former United Airlines test pilot. It was later seen by Major John Carroll of the 4th air rescue quadron at Lowry Field, Denver.

"Apparently no one suffered, it happened so fast," Johnson said. The plane, one of the first to take to the air after the United Pilots' strike ended yesterday, was last heard from at 1:6 a.m. (Mountain standard time over Cheyenne.

At that time the plane, e route from San Francisco to Chicgo by way of Salt Lake City and Enver, reported conditions norma and that it would land in Dener in 24 minutes.

Louisiana Methodist conferece, will be donated to Centenary College.

Although 400 of 1,000 books donated are on religious subjects he library is not a single church assortment of literature. The range of the bishop's interests in matter of man's relationship to Gd ranges from the Catholic Cardinl John Henry Newman's "Apologia" to an edition of the Bible in "Basic English," a language of 85 words. It includes such works as Dakin's "Mrs. Eddy" and Moseley's "The Presbyterian church in Jefferson," a recent study published by a Texas society. There is an edition of Ralph Waldo Emerson's complete works; Hasketh Pearson, "G. B. S."; "History of English Literature" and many others.

Tyler, Tex., with age behind it, a large number of financially well fixed citizens and with a good share of natural resources, is critical of not far distant Longview which it feels is surpassing them in the race for industrial success.

Rev. Martin Wedge, you lfthuassistant pastor of the Tyler First Baptist Church, lets out his feelings about the matter. He rapped Tylerites for letting Longview surpass them in a talk that he gave the other night.

He charged that many old families in towns 'sit tight' with their accumulated wealth and do not encourage new industry which would mean the progress and development of the community.

"Frankly, Longview is getting ahead of Tyler in new industries, and there are a few men in Longview who are not content to sit tight with their wealth who are responsible for its progress," Reverend Wedge declared.

THE CITIZEN'S COMMITTEE'S STATEMENT

The Mayor and Council appointed a committee composed of Joe Durrett, C. H. McHenry, Herbert Rosenhein, Wilson Ewing, George Lofton, Claude Harrison, Ivy Jordan, Herman Masur, James A. Noe, William Rodriguez, Bobby Pappas, Harold Mouk, Dave Silverstein, Leon Johnson, J. C. Liner, E. N. Jackson, Ned Leigh, Ben Downing, Warren Taylor, John Breard and W. L. Ethridge to study the needs of the Fire Department of the City of Monroe and to make recommendations to the Council as to expenditures necessary to modernize the department and expand it to provide proper protection for the city, INCLUDING NEW AREAS.

The committee studied the reports prepared by the engineering firm of Ford, Bacon & Davis and by Chief H. L. Hales, and some members of the committee made an extensive tour, inspecting fire fighting facilities of Baton Rouge, Alexandria, and Lake Charles.

The City Council, on recommendation of the committee, cancelled an election called to consider a bond issue of $900,000 and after receiving the UNANIMOUS report and recommendations of this committee have called an election to be held Tuesday, July 3rd, to consider issuing bonds of $650,000, A REDUCTION OF A QUARTER OF A MILLION DOLLARS from the first proposal.

The committee found that OUR FIRE DEPARTMENT is INADEQUATE for the present size of our city. For example, our present Central Fire Station was built in 1910 to house the horse drawn hose wagon and has not been enlarged nor remodeled since then. While the population of Monroe has more than doubled since 1929, we have added only one station to our facilities and only one pumper. Our fire alarm box system was installed in 1916. By 1928 we had added less than a dozen fire alarm boxes, and not a single box has been added since 1928. For comparison purposes, WE HAVE 45 FIRE ALARM BOXES in the entire city whereas our neighbor, RUSTON, HAS 50. (ALEXANDRIA AND LAKE CHARLES HAVE IN EXCESS OF 300 BOXES EACH).

We feel that the proposed bond election deserves the unanimous support of our community, because:

(1) As a protection against loss of life and destruction of property, it will provide modern fire fighting facilities in each and every section of the city, including:

A new fire station to be constructed in vicinity of Forsythe and 18th St.

A new fire station to be constructed in the vicinity of 9th and Hudson streets.

A new fire station to be constructed East of the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks on the south side of town.

A new Central Fire Station to be constructed large enough to protect the downtown area.

Fire alarm box system to be expanded from 45 boxes to 250 boxes, located throughout the city, with a separate Fire Alarm Headquarters building.

Training facilities, including a drill tower so that members of the department by a rigorous and continuing training program can better protect life and property.

Remodeling and modernization of present stations at Lee & Jackson Sts. and also at Powell and Harrison Sts.

Three additional pumpers.

A modern two-way radio system in order that the operation of every fire-fighting unit in the city may be co-ordinated and work as a team in the event of c large conflagration.

THE BOND ISSUE DOES NOT INCLUDE ANY FUNDS FOR FIREMEN'S SALARIES OR PENSIONS.

(2) The tax to meet the payments of principal and interest on the bonds will not exceed 1 mill ($1.00 per $1000.00 assessment) and we think the tax required might be even less (perhaps 3/4 mill, or 75c per $1000.00 of assessment). ON A HOME ASSESSED FOR $1000.00 IT WILL COST YOU 75c to $1.00 PER YEAR; ON A HOME ASSESSED FOR $2000.00 IT WILL COST YOU $1.50 to $2.00 PER YEAR, etc.

(Remember, YOUR CITY TAXES ON YOUR HOME ARE GOING DOWN THIS YEAR. Because of the Constitutional Amendment recently approved extending Homestead Exemption to City of Monroe, School taxes, Monroe home owners will have a saving of 14 mills on up to $2000 of their assessments. THUS A HOME ASSESSED FOR $2000.00 WILL HAVE THE TAXES REDUCED $28.00)

(3) It should prevent any increase in insurance rates, and may make possible a reduction in present rates.

(Louisiana Rating and Fire Prevention Bureau has advised that unless fire fighting facilities are expanded to meet the needs of our present growth Monroe will be re-surveyed and could lose its rating as 1st class for insurances purposes and could drop to 2nd class, WHICH WOULD MEAN A SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE IN INSURANCE PREMIUMS. This increase in insurance cost in the vast majority of cases would exceed the SMALL TAX REQUIRED TO SERVICE AND RETIRE THE BOND ISSUE.

The City Council has requested that the committee continue to assist them until the proposed expansion and modernization of the Fire Department has been completed.

This committee has carefully considered the program and recommends that you VOTE YES for the proposed Bond Issue on Tuesday July 3rd.

Respectfully submitted,

W. L. Ethridge

PEACH FESTIVAL ATTRACTS MANY

State Officials Participate In Ruston Fete Held There On Thursday

Ruston, La., June 30.—(Special)—Secretary of State Wade O. Martin Jr. commissioner of Agriculture W. E. Anderson and Research Horticulturist Julian C .Miller were three of the principal speakers during the peach festival activities at the Louisiana Tech football stadium Thursday.

Commissioner Anderson presented the gold trophy to Queen Dixie Gem, and complimented the peach association for making the festival possible.

Doctor Miller, talking on the history and development of the peach industry in Louisiana, expressed his interest in the development of the north Louisiana project, and assured his audience that this is an area where we can develop the peace industry." Doctor Miller is head of the horticultural research department at L. S. U. He explained briefly the work now being conducted by the two L. S. U. experimental stations at Calhoun and Homer.

Secretary Martin who represented Gov. Earl K. Long at the festival, complimented the fruit growers of north Louisiana for planning to make the peach festival an annual event, telling them that "you are promoting your community and your product into a class with other famous Louisiana festivals, some of which have become national and even international in influence and prestige."

Martin told the fruit association that "You are attracting favorable and enviable attention with your proposal each year to select at this event 'Queen Dixie Gem and 'Princess Peach."

"According to the expert information I have received," he said, "the Louisiana peach reaches the market well in advance of the same fruit from other peach areas of the nation.

"You can be sure," he continued, "that this is of the utmost economic importance to our state." Later he stressed the fact that "the financial gains of people throughout our state will be measurably increased" by the growth of the peach industry.

Queen of the first Louisiana peach festival, Miss Ann Colvin, Bernice, received her crown Thursday night in a ceremony during the festival ball at the women's gymnasium on the Louisiana Tech campus. The queen had already received her huge, golden trophy at the afternoon ceremony in the Tech football stadium.

Lake Bruin Outing Now Called Off

The scheduled outing and installation of officers ceremony for the Winnsboro Business Men's Association Monday at Lapolico, the Lake Bruin Lodge of the Louisiana Power and Light Company, has been postponed to August, Tom C. Hatfield, retiring president of the organization announces.

This action was taken because of the tragic death of Mrs. C. L. Moore, mother of C. L. Moore, Jr., the Louisiana Power and Light Company manager at Winnsboro. He was to have been host for the occasion. The incoming president is Don K. Mayer.

NOW MANAGER

H. E. DIXON, JR.

H. E. DIXON, JR., OFFICE MANAGER

Takes Over Traffic Service; Has Understanding Of Monroe Requirements

Effective July 1, Harry E. Dixon, Jr., will be placed in full charge of the Monroe office of the traffic management service located in the Strauss building.

Mr. Dixon was educated in the public schools in Roanoke, Va. and is a graduate of the college of advance traffic of Chicago, Illinois.

He is 24 years old and his wife Jean and two daughters, Susan and Linda, will move to Monroe and will reside at 102 McGuire.

In the two ye rs that this office has been operated in Monroe there has developed a large number of community interest problems in traffic and transportation, and as promptly as each of these problems can be submitted to transportation companies committees or the interstate commerce commission it is being done. The ultiate result will be presented to the people of Monroe.

Mr. Dixon states that they have never operated in a community that needs transportation guidance as much as the Monroe territory. As an explanation it is located between two distribution points and that any change that is made in freight rates effecting other communities can have an adverse effect on Monroe, and within a very short period of time Monroe could lose its advantage as a distribution center. Mr. Dixon, therefore states that the needs of the community can be best served by everyone advising him of their transportation problems for quite often they come to the attention of the shipper or receiver before they actually reach a traffic man. Even before a company constructs or leases a new building competent traffic advice should be had in order that lowest transportation charges will be available.

Mr. Dixon works very closely with the Chamber of Commerce of Monroe - West Monroe and has the highest respect of this body.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. S.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes, there is a tendency in that direction. Like tends to mate with like. It's nature's way of preserving her breeds. Psychologists think neurotics probably tend to seek neurotics partly from a feeling of sharing troubles with some one who understands. You'd think neurotics would seek strong, well-balanced persons to lean on! My, what a lot we don't know! We have to ask half-educated persons -- they always know all the answers.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes. It's because everyone develops a regular physical and mental pace, partly natural, partly acquired. If you hurry beyond this pace, you break dishes, upset lamps, say nasty things to your family, kick the dog because he can't talk back — unless, like my Major, he's bright enough from living with a —uh—well, from eating the right food so that he has the sense to bite back. Ignorant and slow people are especially upset by being hurried. I just can't stand it.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. It seems fairly well established that some few persons have two or even more personalities that dominate their lives at different times. A woman who said goodbye to her husband at the station wa found, days later, living as an unmarried woman in a strange town She remembered nothing of her other personality when "she came to herself." Under hypnosis some persons seem, and apparently are, different human beings.

MUFFETT MASTERS GREENWOOD, WINS 13TH

SPORTS WIN 9-2; HAMRIC'S GRAND SLAM ICES GAME

Jones Also Homers As Monroe Takes Series Opener From Dodgers

Greenwood, Miss., June 30.—(Special)—Billy Muffett, the Cotton States League's ace hurler who had a 12-game winning streak snapped by Greenville Tuesday, resumed his mastery of the circuit here tonight as he handcuffed the Greenwood Dodgers on three hits while coasting to a 9 to 2 triumph for his thirteenth win of the season. He has lost only two one of them a two-hitter to the very club he tamed tonight.

Bob Hamric's grand slam homer in the third inning, his second for the circuit this season, gave Muffett his working margin and enough to win the game. However, John Paul Jones also hit a bases empty homer for the Sports, his blow coming immediately behind that of Hamric to give Monroe a big five-run third inning.

A home run also accounted for Greenwood's only runs when Carl Tumlinson, one of the league's most dangerous hitters and threatening at any moment to wrest the lead in batting from "Rusty" Gilbert of Natchez, poled one of Muffett's offerings over the left field fence with a mate on base in the sixth inning.

The win did not come without gloom in the camp of the Sports, however. Shortstop George Andrews, considered one of the sharpest short fielders in the lead, finally had his long run of errorless games snapped. For 25 games, and not since June 7, Andrews had been patrolling his difficult position flawlessly. Things went well enough for him tonight until he made a bad throw to first after taking a grounder by Mike Witwicki. The error was followed by Tumlinson's homer to account for both Dodger tallies.

The two clubs wind up their series with a double header here Sunday afternoon, one of the games serving to make up a rained out game of June 4.

One was out when the Sports got their big third inning underway as Muffett, Carl Tucker, and Jesse Van Winkle worked Crawford for successive free passes that loaded the bases. Hamric then strolled to the plate to blast his home run ball 340 feet over the left center field fence. Partisian Greenwood fans, numbed by blow, had no chance for immediate recovery as Jones followed right behind Hamric with another circuit clout, this one 315 feet over the left field wall.

Crawford then fanned Harvill Jakes and walked George Andrews. Halamak came to Crawford's relief, getting Virgil Bivens on a fly to right field.

But the Sports came right back for two more runs in a 7-0 lead in the fourth.

Again there was one out when Muffett and Tucker again walked. Van Winkle smashed a double into left center, scoring both Muffett and Tucker.

The Dodgers ruined Muffett's shutout in the sixth with two unearned runs. Two were out when George Andrews, fielding a grounder by Mike Witwicki, threw wild to first allowing Witwicki to reach the base safely. Tumlinson plastered a Muffett pitch for his homer, a 340-foot smash over the left center section, driving Witwicki in ahead.

The Sports punched over two more in the eighth. Van Winkle started the inning by working Oliffe for a free pass. Oliffe had just entered the game, relieving Halamak who had been pulled for Bill Saar, a pinch hitter, in the seventh. Oliffe fanned Hamric, but Jones tagged his third hit of the game, and both Van Winkle and Jones advanced on a wild pitch. Jakes walked, loading the sacks. Andrews flier ont to Glen Trugillo in center, but Van Winkle romped home after the catch. A single by Bivens scored Jones.

NEW CASTLE RUN WON BY BUSANDA

Favored Kiss Me Kate Finishes Out Of Money; Leading Home 2nd

Wilmington, Del. June 30.—(AP)—Busanda, a black four-year-old daughter of War Admiral and sporting the black silks of Ogden Phipps, whipped eight of the country's leading glamour gals today in the $60,700 New Castle Handicap at Delaware Park.

Jockey Eric Guerin did a handsome job of steering Busanda home to a two and one-quarter length victory over Leading Home, a 38 to 1 shot, on the sloppy racing strip. Herman Delman's How, leading contender for three-year-old filly honors, was third.

Busanda had captured the $50,000 Suburban Handicap at Belmont Park, beating top handicap horses, and then took the top flight handicap later, but she wasn't running in the favorites role today.

Instead, the crowd of around 18,500 went to the entry of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' Kiss Me Kate and Adile, and the pair of ladies let them down hard as the choice at a shade under 2 to 1.

Busanda was the third choice and returned $9.20, $6.50 and $4.50 in the mutuels. Leading Home paid a sweet $22.50 and $9.90, while How gave back $3.30 to show.

Isidore Bieber's Norhirdchance was fourth, followed by Kiss Me Kate, Joe W. Brown's Thelma Berger, the King Ranch's Renew, C. V. Whitney's Jazz Baby, and Adile.

Busanda, who got her name because Phipps served during the war in the navy's bureau of supplies and accounts, grabbed the big pot, $42,600, and shot her 1951 total winnings to $101,600. It was her fourth victory in 13 starts this season.

Battlefield Nips Alerted By Nose In Shevlin Stakes

New York, June 30—(AP)—George Widener's Battlefield defeated Hampton Stable's Alerted by a nose in a thrilling finish to the 24th running of the $20,000 Shevlin Stakes before 29,045 fans at Aqueduct race track today.

The 3-year-old son of War Relic-Dark Display stepped the sloppy mile and a sixteenth in the excellent time of 1:43 3-5, only four-fifths off Jacomar's track and stake mark.

F. A. Bonsal's Mully S. was third in the field of seven, ten lengths back of Alerted.

Heavily favored in the betting, Battlefield returned mutuels MF $3.40, $2.60 and $2.40.

Thrown Ball Only Cause Of Death Of Ball Player

Ogden, Utah, June 30. —(AP)— A hard thrown baseball apparently was the sole cause of the playing field death last night of young Dick Conway, up and coming Yankee farm team catcher for Twin Falls.

Dr. Ralph Ellis, Ogden physician who performed an autopsy on the 19-year-old athlete, said tonight he would list the cause of death as an "occulusion on the chest wall over the heart, which caused a cardiac arrest."

Dr. Ellis said he could find no evidence of any heart disease. It was reported last night that the Lynn, Mass., rookie recently had suffered fainting spells.

DODGERS OUT OF DOLDRUMS, MAUL PHILLIES

BUMS GRAB EARLY MARGIN TO COAST TO EASY 14-8 WIN

Five Philadelphia Errors, Nine Free Passes Help Brooklyn

Brooklyn, June 30. —(AP)— The Brooklyn Dodgers, abetted by five errors and nine walks, snapped out of the doldrums today and swamped the Philadelphia Phillies, 14-8.

The league leaders, who had lost five out of their previous six starts, tucked the decision away in the fourth inning when they scored seven runs to assume a 13-4 lead.

Brooklyn sent 11 men to bat in the big fourth, which Duke Snider highlighted with a three-run homer, his 17th of the season. Snider's best accounted for the first three runs of the uprising. The remainder came as the result of singles by Carl Furillo, Rocky Bridges, Carl Erskine, a walk, fly ball and errors by Gran Hamner and Milo Candini.

BRAVES BLAST GIANTS

Boston, June 30.—(AP)—The Braves made Tommy Holmes' Boston managerial debut a terrific success tonight by overwhelming the New York Giants, 19-7. Earl Torgeson homered twice, including a grand-slammer, and Sid Gordon once as the Tribesmen cut loose with an 18-hit attack that ruined Sal Maglie's hopes for his 13th pitching win.

Snead Subdues Mangrum In Rousing Round, Gains P. G. A. Quarter-Finals

Two Former Champs, Ferrier And Ghezzi, Beaten In Third Matches

Oakmont, Pa., June 30—(AP)—Unpredictable Sam Snead grooved his shots in the face of a violent rainstorm and scorching comeback pressure today to subdue Lloyd Mangrum, 3 and 2, and push into the quarter-finals of the Professional Golfers Association Tournament.

In whipping the tiger- hearted Mangrum, the year's leading money winner and pre-tournament choice, Snead became heavy favorite to capture his third P.G.A. championship. He won in 1942 and 1949.

Five holes ahead at one stage, the belting West Virginian saw his wiry rival from Niles, Ill., level the match on the 28th after hostilities had been held up almost an hour by a thunderstorm that blew down on hilly Oakmont from the lower Allegheny river valley.

But Snead took an extra hitch in his belt, won three straight holes and closed out the tilt on the short 34th when an 18-foot Mangrum putt rolled to the rim of the cup and then squirmed away.

Snead thus went into tomorrow's round of eight against 28-year-old Jackson Burke, Jr., of Houston, "baby" of the touring pro brigade, who eliminated Gene Kunes, Cleveland, 4 and 3.

Other survivors during the long, wet and hectic day were Johnny Bulla of next door Verona, Pa., playing the best match play golf of the tournament; Ellsworth Vines, Los Angles, once the greatest tennis player in the world; Reggie Myles, Lansing, Mich., Walter Burkemo, Franklin, Mich; the veteran Al Brosch, Garden City, N. Y., and Charles Bassler, Catonsville, Md., was carried 37 holes.

Besides the Snead-Burke match, the quarter-finals send Bassler against Brosch, Burkemo against Myles and Vines against Bulla.

Two former champions — towering Jim Ferrier, San Francisco and Vic Ghezzi, Inwood, N. Y.— were third round victims, leaving the field still studded with dark horses.

A crowd of 8,000 swarmed over rolling Oamont course—a 6,882-yard master layout, playing a rugged par 37-35—72.

Bulla gave Ferrier, the 1947 titlist, the worst shellacking of the Australian native's career, winning by the smashing score of 9 and 8.

Ghezzi, winner of the P.G.A. in 1941, was sent to the side-lines by Reggie Myles, one up.

The tall, bespectacled Vines, ousted Jackson Bradley, Chicago 2 and 1.

Burkemo, a 32-year-old husky who knocks the ball a mile, eliminated Dick Shoemaker, Cleveland, 2 and 1.

Brosch advanced with a 6 and 5 triumph over Jack Harden, El Paso, Tex.

Cochell Faces Trabert In College Net Finals

Evanston, Ill., June 30—(AP)—Earl Cochell of Southern California, moved into the finals of the N.C.A.A. tennis tourney today with an easy victory over Robin Williner, U.C.L.A. southpaw, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

The 29-year-old Cochell must defeat Tony Trabert, Cincinnati, tomorrow to successfully end his eight-year pursuit of the inter-collegiate tennis title. Trabert downed Hugh Stewart, Southern California, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1 in the other semi-finals match.

Cochell and his Southern California teammate Stewart won their semi-finals doubles match from Jack Shoemaker and Larry Huebner, U. C. L. A., 8-6, 9-7, 7-5. Trabert and Bud Igel, Cincinnati, defeated John Ricksen and Rupert Ricksen, California, in the other doubles match, 6-2, 8-6, 6-1.

Tyler Nominated To Coach U. S. Olympic Bob Sledding

Troy, N. Y., June 30—(AP)—Francis W. Tyler, the "old man of the Bob Sled" who piloted the 1948 Olympic and world championship sleds, was picked by the United States Olympic Bob Sled Committee today to coach the 1952 entry.

The selection of the 46-year-old Lake Placid insurance adjuster was announced by Chairman H. L. (Jack) Garren. He said Tyler's name would be submitted to the U. S. Executive Committee for confirmation. The 1952 Olympics will be at Oslo, Norway.

RICHARDSON OUT AT WIMBLEDON

Louisiana Boy Beaten By Brazilian Star In All-England Tourney

Wimbledon, June 30.—(AP)—"Center court shakes," made worse by the presence of Queen Mother Mary in the royal box, proved too much today for Hamilton Richardson, the 17-year-old golden boy from Baton Rouge, La.

He was dumped unceremoniously from the All-England Tennis Championships by Armanda Vieira, the champion of Brazil, as two of his American teammates, Dick Savitt and Herbie Flam, battled their way into the quarter-finals.

Completely lacking the fire control he demonstrated in his sensational second round upset of defending Champion Budge Patty of Los Angeles, Richardson bowed to Vieira's lightning service and brilliant net play, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, 6-0.

He won his only set, the second, while the dowager queen was out to tea. "Ham" also was doing all right until she returned in the third, but from that point on the youngster didn't win a single game and actually scored only 12 points in the final seven games. It was a severe anti-climax for the crowd of 15,000.

Savitt, the husky from Orange, N. J., who holds the Australian singles title, banked his way past Josef Asboth, balding Hungarian veteran, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3, while Flam, who was runner-up to Art Larsen in the last U.S. Nationals, outclassed Hans Van Swol of the Netherlands, 6-2 6-2, 6-3.

Larsen already had won his way into the quarter-finals with a victory yesterday over Torsten Johannsen of Sweden. Thus, three of the eight survivors who will continue play for the big silver cup on Monday are candidates for the next American Davis Cup team.

Unfortunately, all three are packed into the upper half of the draw, so there can be no possibility of an All-American final, and two of them, Larsen and Savitt, must collide in the next round for the right to play in the semi-finals.

Six American girls, headed by defending champion Louise Brough Beverly Hills, California crowded their way into the women's quarter - finals. Only two English players Mrs. Jean Walker - Smith and Mrs. Kay Stammers Tuckey, remained tonight to oppose the overseas brigade.

Miss Brough trounced Pat Lewis, England, 6-1, 6-0; Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont, Wilmington, Del., downed Mrs. Betty Dawson Scott, England, 6-4, 6-4; Doris Hart, Miami, defeated Jean Quertier, England, 6-4, 6-3; Shirley Fry, Akron, O., crushed Lorna Cornell, England, 6-0, 6-1; Beverly Baker, Santa Monica, outlasted Mrs. Helena Matous, exiled Czech, 10-8, 6-3, and Nancy Chaffee, Ventura, Calif., ousted Mrs. Bibi Sanden, Sweden, 6-0- 6-3.

Mrs. Walker - Smith, the only seeded Briton in the tournament, defeated Mrs. Rita Anderson, Hollywood, 6-4, 6-1, and Mrs. Tuckey ousted Mrs. Barbara Scofield Davidson, San Francisco, 6-2, 3-5, 6-1.

Quarter-final pairings are DuPont vs. Baker, Hart vs. Chaffee, Fry vs. Walker-Smith, and Brough vs. Tuckey.

Order Suspension Of Dixie Walker

Little Rock, June 30.—(AP)—Indefinite suspension of Manager Dixie Walker of the Atlanta Crackers was ordered today by President Charlie Hurt of the Southern Association.

Umpire Paul Roy ordered the second game of a double header between Atlanta and the Mobile Bears at Mobile, Ala., forfeited last night when Walker, former National League star outfeilder, refused to finish the game.

The ruckus started when Catcher Leroy Jarvis of Atlanta was charged with interfering with a Mobile base runner at home plate in the eighth inning. The run put Mobile ahead 3 to 2. Mobile had won the first game 2-0.

"I am suspending Manager Walker indefinitely pending my investigation of the forfeiture," Hurt said.

Hurt has been here in connection with plans for the All-Star game, to be played in Little Rock, July 11.

Nieporte Beats Teammate For N. C. A. A. Golf Crown

Columbus, O., June 30. —(AP)— Tom Nieporte of Ohio State — the lad who swings like a golf teacher instead of a student—captured the 1951 intercollegiate golf championship today. He defeated teammate Don Johnson, 5 and 3, in the first one-school finale the 45-year-old N. C. A. A. tourney has seen.

Nieporte was never behind after the 11th hole in the morning round of their scheduled 36-hole match. He was two up over Johnson after the first water - logged 18 holes and still two up after 27 holes.

The new champion ended the N. C. A. A. finals on the 33rd hole with a birdie three, running down a 10-foot putt.

Billy Muffett Barely Missed Tying Modern Mark For Consecutive Wins

By J. P. Friend

Blytheville, Ark., June 30—(Special) — Jim Gilbert, Natchez outfielder, passed the halfway mark still leading the Cotton States League batting parade with a mark of .380, but saw his 10-week lead trimmed to three more points by Carl Tumlinson, Greenwood, for the period ending June 26 and released Saturday by the Friend News Service.

Gilbert was able to collect nine hits in 27 times at bat in the last seven games and skidded six points. He now has 92 hits in 22 tries over a 69-game course.

Rex Carr, Hot Springs manager, dropped three decimals to .338 but kept in third place. Bill (Fibber) McGhee, El Dorado Oiler boss, not only stopped his downward plunge, but picked up five points and regained fourth place with .336. Idle Bobby Greene, Monroe, moved down to fifth with .335.

After winning 12 straight games and within one of the modern league record, Monroe's Billy Muffett finally was stopped. Erv Liberton and the lowly Greenville Bucks, who are becoming quite tough to handle of late, combined for a 3-0 shutout, June 26. Both pitchers granted only five hits. Despite the loss, Muffett's 12-2 record and .857 winning percentage are best in the league. Vachel Perkins, Pine Bluff, rates second in average, .714 with 10-4. Don Scott, Greenwood, and Hugh Ben Lott, Pine Bluff, have the same figure with 5-2, followed by Copeland Goss, El Dorado, 9-4, and Ira Moxley, Greenwood, 11-5. Roy Jayne, Natchez, has fanned 107 ..

RED SOX COOL YANKS; BROWNS TAME CHISOX

GOODMAN, STOBBS CHECK BRONX BID FOR FIRST PLACE

Crimson Hose Win, 3-1; St. Louis Brownies Take 4-3 Win Over White Sox

New York, June 30.—(AP)—Billy Goodman supplied the batting punch and lefty Chuck Stobbs came through with a six-hitter today to pace Boston's Red Sox to a 3-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

The defeat cost the Yankees a chance to move into first place, as the Chicago White Sox fell before St. Louis, 4-3.

Goodman's two-run double was the big hit as Boston scored all its runs in the second inning. Stobbs' only mistake protecting his lead was a home run ball to Yogi Berra in the fourth inning.

The Wheeling, W. Va., southpaw never allowed more than one hit in any inning. His first walk came in the ninth inning, when the Yanks tried to pull the game out with one of their patented finishes.

But Stobbs, a 21-year-old, six-foot-one speedster, would have none of it. When Berra opened the ninth with a single and Johnny Mize drew a pass after a fly out, the big crowd — 33,581 — began whooping it up.

Acting like a seasoned veteran, Stobbs calmly disposed of the ever-dangerous Hank Bauer and Jackie Jensen on soft pop flies to third base. It was his sixth victory over the season against three losses and first ever over New York.

Actually, the Yanks never had a chance after the Red Sox bombed Bob Kuzava in the second inning. In addition to Berra's homer, the New Yorkers managed only five other singles off Stobbs' southpaw slants.

Vern Stephens opened the second with a triple to right center. After Bobby Doerr walked, Goodman, now Boston's full - time first baseman, cracked his game-winning double to right. Goodman moved to third on Karl Olson's bunt single and scored on Buddy Rosar's fly ball.

BROWNS 4, WHITE SOX 3

Chicago, June 30. —(AP)— Dick Starr, who has not won or completed a game in five previous starting assignments, today broke the St. Louis Browns' nine-game losing streak by pitching a 4-3 victory over the pace setting Chicago White Sox.

The defeated White Sox precariously held to their first place rank in the American League race by one half a game because Boston defeated the pursuing New York Yankees, 3-1, at New York.

Starr held the Chicagoans to seven hits and scoreless until the eighth to the chagrin of 10,124 customers.

Joe Dobson, one of four Chicago pitchers, was charged with the loss—his second against five victories.

Starr had a shutout going into the eighth until Phil Masi opened with a double to left. Masi scored on Dillinger's single to center, after pinch hitter Floyd Baker had flied out to Fred Marsh. Starr was yanked in the ninth, with two out, after the Sox had scored twice on three hits. Al Zarilla blasted to right with Jimmy Busby and Carrasquel flying out. Phil Masi singled and Don Lenhardt, batting for Billy Pierce, doubled to score Zarilla and Masi. Bob Hogue came in to throw one pitch to Bob Dillinger, who flied out to end the threat.

Life Of Alabama-Florida League Threatened In Row Over Pitcher In Fatality

Montgomery, Ala., June 30—(AP)—Stuart X. Stephenson, general manager of the Montgomery club of the South Atlantic League, will investigate the dispute which threatens to put the Class D Alabama-Florida League out of business.

He will meet with club owners and league officials at Dothan tomorrow night as a representative of George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of minor league baseball teams.

There are strong indications that the six-club loop will fold soon unless something is done about the situation which brought about the resignation of G. D. Halstead, league president, yesterday.

The dispute started with the death of Ottis Johnston, Dothan outfielder, who was struck in the head by a pitched ball June 10. The pitcher was Jack Clifton of the league-leading Headland entry.

Dothan later forfeited two games when Clifton was scheduled to pitch. President Charles Smith finally said he was withdrawing his club from the league July 2.

Halstead said he had been notified by representatives of the Enterprise and Ozark, Ala., and Panama City, Fla., clubs that they will quit the league also if Headland keeps Clifton and Manager James Ball.

The All-Stars are chosen from the trailing clubs. Although several changes in the standings took place during the past two weeks, the biggest was Urania's three-game winning streak that placed the LaSalle Producers in second place and in a good position to make the Shaughnessy playoff.

Mangham and Rayville may trade places for third and last places in the league when President Larry Fox announces his decision on two games between two clubs, one protested by Rayville, and the other stopped on a protest by Mangham.

Kallio Will End His Mat Holiday Tuesday, July 10

Promoter Gus Kallio, right now resting through a "wrestling holiday," last night said he will resume his regular Tuesday night mat shows here July 10, presenting his next show exactly one month after calling the mat vacation.

"The very fans who do the loudest howling about referees being no good and matches not coming out like they should are the ones putting on the pressure for the return of the wrestlers," said Kallio laughing.

"After all, I guess they are enjoying the right of fans to fuss about everything and wrestling gives them that outlet. So we'll be back in full swing with a good card Tuesday night, July 10."

Kallio had figured to extend the holiday through July at least, but he said he is "just as bad as the fans and am ready for some more."

Just to keep the fans here up todate, Henry Harrell now rules at the world's light heavyweight champion. Harrell, with quite a following in the Twin Cities, wrest the crown from "Buff" Serois, Buffalo, N. Y., at Shreveport last Monday night.

NORTHEAST LOOP PICKS ALL-STARS

Choice Of Players From Four Clubs Face Leading Bastrop July 13

The All-Star players of the Northeast Louisiana Baseball League, who will clash with the pace-setting Bastrop Barons Friday, July 13, were named by club officials yesterday at meeting in the Frances Hotel in Monroe.

The All-Star players are chosen from the four teams trailing Bastrop in the league standings.

Players, teams and positions are as follows:

Trapanni, Rayville, first base; McCormick, Urania, second base; Ballance, Mangham, third base; Mugnier, Urania, short stop; Burks, Urania, outfield; B. Fortenberry, Rayville, outfield; Rawls West Monroe, outfield;

Catchers-Keene, Urania; Rabb, Mangham; and Lloyd, Rayville.

Pitchers - Taliaferro, Mangham; McCants, Urania; Petiut, Rayville, Roberts, West Monroe.

Nessels, of Rayville, was named as the outstanding utility player, and is also a member of the All-Star squad to face Bastrop in the league's classic.

The Barons have shoved aside competition from some of the best baseball teams in this area, including an 11 to 3 victory over the Big Eight League-leading Bernice team.

Although the Barons dropped two top players to the major leagues when Dick Foster was signed by the Cincinnati club and C. J. Fontana joined the New York Yankee farm circuit for the second time, the All-Stars offer a round-up of the top baseball talent from Rayville, Mangham, West Monroe and Urania, and the game is certain to be a fast one.

President Larry Fox said at the meeting yesterday he would attend the All-Star game and is on the entertainment roster to speak before the game gets underway.

Johnny Collins, business manager and the most avid fan of the Barons, said a lot of additional entertainment is being prepared for visitors on the night of the All-Star clash.

The lowest 72-hole score in the USGA Open is the 67-72-68-69—276 recorded by Ben Hogan at the Riviera Country Club in 1948.

CHOOSE BIG EIGHT ALL-STAR SQUADS

Annual League Classic Slated Friday Night At Farmerville

Ruston, La., June 30—(Special)—The Big Eight League managers have made the following selections for the annual all-star game that will be played at Farmerville on Friday night. Minden, Ruston Rebels, Ruston Volunteers and Hodge represent the Southern teams while Dubach, Farmerville Bernice and the Commercial Solvents of Sterlington compose the Northern group.

The Southerners will have a pitching staff composed of Benny McArdle of Minden, Bill Randolph of the Vols, "Slim" Cassibry and Sam Cox of the Rebels, and Marvin Coleman of Hodge. The Northerners will have "Lefty" Castleberry of Dubach, Nick Everett of Farmerville and Pete Adkins and Lefty Smith of Bernice.

The catchers will be James Carroll Farrar of Minden and Bill Lockwood of the Vols for the South, and Ben Carroll of Bernice and Jess Moore of Dubach for the Yankees. The Southern infielders will be Johnny Williamson of the Rebels, Berry Hinton, Jimmy Harrison of the Vols, Booras, Deltora, and Harry Davis of Minden and Bob Weaver of Hodge. The Northern infielders are Bob Taylor of Farmerville, Henry Allbritton, Bobby Elkins and Parker of Bernice. Glenn Fuller, Jelly Norris, and Ty Pendagrast of Dubach.

The Southern outfield will come from the following players, Scotty Robinson of the Rebels, Grady Staggs and B. Davis of Hodge, Jimmie Rogers of Minden and Sam Cox of the Rebels. The Yankee outfielders will be Bob Brasher of Farmerville, Miller Booth of Sterlington, Nig Roberson of Dubach, and Glenn Post and Bledsoe of Bernice.

Twenty of the above players are former Tech stars, four are from Northwestern and one each from L.S.U., Mississippi State, Arkansas U. Baylor, and Texas A. and M.

Verbal War Rages Between Walter Reuther, John Lewis

Detroit, June 30.—(AP)—Question: If Walter Reuther is a "pseudo-intellectual nit-wit," then what is John L. Lewis?

Answer (from Reuther): An "embittered, petulant and argumentative minor public figure."

That's how the battle of the invectives between the two rival labor leaders stood today as the smoke cleared from Reuther's counter-blast.

Reuther, president of the C. I. O. United Auto Workers, fired the latest volley last night in the form of a statement by his 23-man executive board. These were among the slugs:

1. Agents of Lewis' United Mine Workers have offered "highly remunerative posts" to some ex-U. A. W. officials in an attempt to get them to "raid" the auto workers.

2. Lewis has "joined hands with the National Association of Manufacturers" in an effort to destroy price control.

3. Though barring Communists from his own union, Lewis "regularly and consistently makes alliances with Communists in other unions whose internal affairs he happens to be interfering in at any given time."

4. The mine workers union has signed "backdoor agreements" with companies which have moved to rural areas to avoid paying U. A. W. wage standards.

The six-page statement was the U. A. W.'s first since Lewis opened fire here last Saturday in a much-ballyhooed outing billed as a tenth anniversary celebration of the signing of the first U. A. W. contract with the Ford Motor Co.

Reuther not only rejected an invitation to share the speaker's platform with Lewis but ordered an international union boycott of the show. Lewis had been invited by U. A. W. Local 600, which is feuding with Reuther.

Besides calling Reuther a "pseudo-intellectual nit-wit," Lewis assailed the escalator wage system which Reuther has fostered and sneered at the auto workers president's role in world-wide affairs. A crowd estimated at more than 40,000 attended.

One-Cent Tax On Soft Drinks Will Start Today

Charleston, W. Va., June 30.—(AP)—Nickel soda pop will disappear in West Virginia tomorrow.

West Virginia's legislature several months ago imposed a one-cent tax on soft drinks and it goes into effect tomorrow. The proceeds are to finance a medical school for West Virginia University.

Adding the tax also brings a bottle of pop into the first bracket in West Virginia's retail sales tax so the price goes up to seven cents.

Woman Driver In Wreck Wearing Roller Skates

Muncie, Ind., June 30.—(AP)—Sheriff W. Pete Anthony listed a brand new cause for an auto accident today.

A woman driver lifted from a wrecked automobile, northwest of Muncie, was wearing roller skates. She was unhurt.

She refused to remove the skates. Lodged in a county jail cell for investigation, she skated around the concrete floor for a while and then jerked out all of the plumbing.

Her name was withheld. Anthony said he suspected she was a mental case.

WAS TO RETIRE

Key West, Fla., June 30.—(AP)—Lt. Cmdr. Oscar Warden Myers was to have begun a new life today as a retired naval officer.

The 43-year-old flier of (420 Stanley Dr.) Santa Barbara, Calif., and his wife, Edna, planned to celebrate the end of 25 years' active duty with the navy.

The plane on which he made his last flight yesterday crashed, killing eight of the nine men on board. Among the dead was Cmdr. Myers, who had gone along as an observer.

Double The Overall And Pick Up Points

By Oswald Jacoby

Few players take enough advantage of the opening bid of one no-trump. If your partner makes this opening bid you can double an opponent's overcall with a very meager strength and a very light trump holding.

In today's hand, for example, South should double the overcall of two spades. He knows that North has nearly half the strength in the deck, and his own high cards are more than enough to make it a cinch that the opponents are outheld in high cards.

True, South is not happy as a lark to double with three tiny trumps. However, he expects his partner to have three spades for the no-trump bid. Hence the combined North-South hands should contain six trumps and by far more high cards than the East-West hands. How can East expect to win eight tricks against such a combination?

When the hand was actually played, South missed his chance to double. However, North came to the rescue by doubling when two spades was passed around. At this point South should have passed the double with glee and gratitude — to say nothing of greed. East would have gone for 300 points without the slightest doubt.

Actually South decided to run out of a good spot into a bad one. His contract of three hearts went down automatically and ingloriously. He was bound to lose a spade, a trump, a diamond, and two clubs even if he stood on his head (although that was one thing he didn't actually try).

Part of the value of a strong opening bid of one no-trump is that it silences the opposition. This value is lost if you let the enemy get away with an interference bid that should be punished.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been: North, 1 Diamond, 2 Clubs, 3 Clubs East, Pass, Pass, Pass South, 1 Spade, 2 Hearts, ?; West, Pass, Pass.

You, South, hold: Spades A-J-9-8-3, Hearts K-Q-7-5-2, Diamond 8, Clubs J-4. What do you do?

A—Pass. Partner cannot show support for a major, cannot bid no-trump and cannot make a jump bid at any stage. The hand is a clear misfit, and with such hands you must pass as soon as the horrible truth becomes clear. There is a tremendous difference between two clubs undoubled and any higher contract doubled and badly set.

Today's Question

The bidding has been: North, 1 Diamond, 2 Clubs, 3 Spades; East, Pass, Pass, Pass; South, 1 Spade, 3 Diamonds; West, Pass, Pass.

You, South, hold: Spades K-J-9-8-3, Hearts Q-6-4, Diamonds A-Q-3, Clubs J-4. What do you do?

LA. LEGISLATORS ADJOURN SESSION

Lawmakers Fight Off Effort To Prove Senate Proceedings Illegal

Baton Rouge, La,. June 30.—(AP)—Louisiana lawmakers fought a second anti-administration effort to put a taint of illegality on senate proceedings, then adjourned a special session today.

The new attack focused on whether the senate was in recess when the presiding officer last Friday signed the legislative bills.

A constitutional provision says presiding officers must sign legislation while in other session.

The house met for 368 minutes, the senate 40 minutes, before members formally adjourned Gov. Earl Long's fifth extra session on the 12th day.

They were called back for sine die adjournment because appropriations measures can not be passed during the last five days.

The 32 measures, signed by the governor last week, included $16,150,600 mostly for highways, hospitals and civil defense, and a tough new narcotics law that draws a bead on dope peddlers.

Senators meanwhile killed a resolution by Sen. Drayton Boucher of Springhill that suggested a future legislature consider moving back the Jan. 15, 1952, Democratic primary to October, 1951, to avoid winter campaigning.

In the house, Rep. Jesse Verret of Calcasieu parish (county) criticized the legislature for throwing out resolution last week that sought a legislative investigation of Louisiana crime and law enforcement.

He cited to members last Wednesday's action in Lake Charles by a citizens' crime commission. It handed 100 signed and notarized statements to the district attorney's office, charging specific violations of state gambling laws by 30 Calcasieu parish establishments.

The senate scrap over the newest legal point of whether members were in recess when Lt. Gov. William Dodd, senate president, signed the bills last Friday, ended quickly.

But not before administration forces of Gov. Long, led by Sen. C. H. Dawns of Alexandria, countered with majority - supported resolutions that were nailed into the record.

Last week, the special session broke into an uproar in the senate as a strategy-loaded but vote - shy minority sniped at Gov. Long's program. Dodd reshuffled senate committees and ousted Long supporters.

Parliamentary maneuvering which returned Long men to the committees caused Dodd to comment, "the legality of the entire program is open to question."

Today, a second assault began when Sen. Charles Tooke, Jr., of Shreveport objected that the Journal did not correctly reflect proceedings on last Friday, when the bills were signed in the senate.

He contended that, when bills were handed Dodd for signing, Dodd surrendered the chair to the senate president pro tempore, Sen. Andrew Sevier of Tallulah, who then declared the senate to be in recess.

Execution Of Negro Halted

New Orleans, June 30. — (AP) — A U. S. supreme court mandate today halted the execution of Paul Washington, 25-year - old Negro, one hour and 20 minutes before he was scheduled to die for the rape of a white woman.

At the time, Washington, shaved and shorn for his date with Louisiana's portable electric chair, sat moodily in his cell of the Jefferson parish jail at Gretna, across the Mississippi river from New Orleans.

He had eaten his last meal there, a few feet from the spot where the electric chair was set up yesterday in readiness for the execution.

When told that U. S. Supreme Court Justice Douglas had granted him a stay of execution, Washington merely smiled and said nothing, jail attaches reported.

Washington had been scheduled to die between noon and 3 p. m. (CST). It is customary in Louisiana to conduct executions as soon as possible after noon. It was 10:40 a. m. (CST) when word of the execution stay reached the jail.

Douglas granted the stay in Washington after one of his colleagues, Justice Burton refused to act late last night.

The stay will be effective until the supreme court at its next term beginning Oct. 1 acts finally on Washington's case.

Washington's attorney contended the Negro was not properly represented at his trial on the rape charge, that he had been illegally arraigned and that confessions were forced from him.

Attorneys retained by the civil rights congress had been denied stay of execution in state criminal district court, the Louisiana supreme court, the U. S. district court and the U. S. fifth circuit court of appeals here. The CRC has been branded subversive and a Communist front organization by the U. S. attorney general's office.

The attack for which Washington was convicted took place in adjoining Jefferson parish in 1948.

SUPPLIES OF RICE MAY BECOME SHORT

Washington, June 30. — (AP) — World export supplies of rice may become very short this summer, the U. S. agriculture department predicts.

This forecast announced yesterday was based upon a survey made in southeastern Asia by a department expert.

The situation would not be relieved, the department said, until fall and winter crops are harvested.

The Korean fighting has been largely responsible for the increased world demand, the department added. The war has shifted Korea from an exporting to an importing country.

India's needs have increased because of crop failures.

Drop biscuits, made by adding a little more liquid to standard baking powder biscuit dough, are excellent to use for strawberry shortcake.

Miss Sunshine Hutchins Bride Of Will Sam Kendall, Jr.

Impressive Candlelight Ceremony Solemnized At Memorial Presbyterian Church

The Memorial Presbyterian Church in West Monroe was the scene Friday evening, June 15th, at seven-thirty o'clock of a beautiful candlelight wedding when Miss Sunshine Hutchins and Will Sam Kendall Jr. were united in marriage.

Dr. Hugh E. Bradshaw performed the impressive ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jessie M. Hutchins of West Monroe and Mr. S. E. Hutchins of Alton, Illinois and Mr. Kendall is the son of Mrs. W. S. Kendall Sr. and the late Mr. Kendall of West Monroe.

The bridal couple exchanged the vows of the impressive double ring ceremony before the alter which was beautifully decorated with standards of white gladioli and shasta daises. Branched candelabra held a myriad of slender white tapers entwined with southern smilax. Reserved pews were marked with white ribbons. Bill and Hank Anderson lighted the white tapers which was the setting for the ceremony.

Mrs. Stewart Scott, at the piano, rendered several selections of nuptial music and accompanied Miss Polly Ragland as she sang "I Love You Truly," "Because," and "Always." The traditional wedding marches marked the beginning and the end of the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her wedding gown of white satin fashioned with deep set yoke of net trimmed with seed pearls. The long satin sleeves coming to points over here hands, were fastened with tiny covered buttons, which also adorned the back of the satin bodice. The full skirt extended into a chapel length train.

Her viel of illusion was fingertip length, and fell gracefully from a coronet. She carried a bouquet of tube roses centered with a single white orchid with cascade streamers of white satin ribbon.

Miss Lallage Feazel was maid of honor and Mrs. Pat Massey, matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Abby Anne Campbell, Miss Barbara Buce and Miss Beth Bradshaw and Miss Mary Beth Rogers, junior bridesmaids. Little Jamie Jones was the flower girl and Mike Jones was ringbearer. The bridal attendants wore identical gowns of pale yellow organdy fashioned with embroidered trimming around the neck and skirt. They wore small hats of matching color. Each carried an arrangement of white Marconi daisies with pale green ribbon. The flower girl carried a small basket of white shasta daisies.

Mr. Ed Walker Stinson served the groom as best man and ushers were Pat Massey, Phillip Campbell, and Jack Ponder.

Mrs. Hutchins chose for her daughter's wedding a gown of white crepe complimented by an orchid corsage. Mrs. Kendall was wearing a lovely model of blush pink with an orchid corsage.

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the banquet hall at the church. The bride and groom, their mothers, and the bridal attendants received the guests.

Artistic arrangements of gladioli and shasta daisies were placed at vantage points.

The birde's table in the dining room was covered with a beautiful cutwork cloth and was centered with the lovely tiered wedding confection embossed with calla lilies, roses and lilies of the valley. Surrounding the base of the cake was arrangements of southern smilax and magnolia blossoms. At each corner of the table was a single candle in a silver candle holder tied with pink tulle and surrounded by large magnolia blossoms.

Later the couple left for a wedding trip to New Orleans. For her going away costume, Mrs. Kendall wore a two piece purple dress with lilac jacket. Her shoes and purse were of purple color and gloves and hat of lilac. She was wearing the white orchid corsage. Upon their return they will be in their new home at 1301 Hinkle Drive, West Monroe.

The bride is a graduate of Fair Park High School in Shreveport and attended Northeast Junior College where she was a member of the Purple Jackets. The bridegroom graduated from Ouachita Parish High School and attended Louisiana State University and Louisiana Tech. He is a member of Sigma Phi Omega fraternity.

Alice Joy Harper Is Bride Of Benjamin Franklin Marshall

Impressive Ceremony Solemnized In Home Of The Bride's Parents

One of the loveliest weddings of the summer season was that of Miss Alice Joy Harper, daughter of Judge and Mrs. William M. Harper, when she became the bride of Benjamin Franklin Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Frederick Petty.

The marriage was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents Saturday, June 16th with Dr. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating.

The bridal couple exchanged the vows of the impressive double-ring service before an improvised altar which held white tapers in silver candelabra flanked with large baskets of Shasta daisies. An aisle formed of white ribbons and Shasta daisies led to the altar placed before the pier glass mirror.

Preceeding the ceremony, Mrs. Frank Breece, Jr., read from the thirteenth chapter of I Corinthinians. Mrs. B. D. Allbritton, on the piano, rendered several selections of pre-nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her ballerina-length gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta, with short lace cape and lace Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Billie Harper, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and only attendant. She was wearing a ballerina length dress of pale blue embossed organdy. She carried a bouquet of blue Majestic daisies arranged with a handle of daisies to form a basket effect, with matching flowers worn in her hair.

Mr. Paul Ransom served the groom as best man.

Mrs. Harper, mother of the bride, was wearing a blue chiffon gown with lace insertions. Her corsage was an orchid. Mrs. Petty wore mauve chiffon with a corsage of blue agapanthus. Mrs. W. S. Dixon, aunt of the bride, wore champagne lace with a glamellia corsage.

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's parents home.

In the dining room the bride's table was centered with the square three tiered cake decorated with ivy. Ivy was also entwined in the silver candelabra holding white candles at each corner of the table. Shasta daisies were used on the buffet.

On the verandah the refreshment table held the punch bowl which was circled with ivy and smilax. Silver compotes held wedding ring mints. Petit fours and a variety of dainty sandwiches were passed among the guests.

Assisting at the reception and wearing formal attire with corsages of Shasta daisies were Mrs. J. Hunter Thatcher, Jr., Mrs. O. B. Frazier, Mrs. Charles Sherrouse, Mrs. Claude Harrison, Mrs. Malcolm Biedenharn, Mrs. C. U. Johnson, Mrs. John Fox, Mrs. E. N. Jackson, Mrs. J. P. Brown, Mrs. Maurice Frazier, Mrs. Jack Taylor, Mrs. Charles Reid, Mrs. William Bendel, Mrs. Herbert Rosenhein, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Mrs. James A. Noe, Mrs. Paul Ransom.

For their wedding trip the bride was wearing a blue linen suit with red straw bonnet. She wore white accessories and a corsage of red carnations. Upon their return the couple will make their home in this city.

Mrs. Marshall is a graduate of Newcomb college and Louisiana State University where she was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta. Mr. Marshall graduated from Louisiana State University, where he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and Samural interfraternity.

Out-Of-Town Guests

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Dan Beacham and Mrs. J. T. Jackson of New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Marshall of Syracuse, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gulledge and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Penniman of Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Nunnally and Mr. and Mrs. Harold McSween of Alexandria.

MRS. DANZEL COBB ATTENDS STATE CONFERENCE ON PUBLIC HEALTH

Mrs. Danzel C. Cobb, secretary-treasurer of the 13th District P. T. A., recently returned from a state conference on Public Health in Louisiana. Mrs. Cobb represented Richland Parish and Holly Ridges' local unit of which she is immediate past president.

The conference, held at Sophie Newcomb College in New Orleans, stressed the opportunities and responsibilities of the Parent-Teacher Association units in preparing and acquainting civic-minded leaders wth the vital functions of the State Health Department and how it may be used in preventive therapy for preschool age children through high school.

Conference leaders pointed out that a good Parent-Teacher program of summer round-ups and yearly health projects would provide the means of integrating the rural home with the local and state health departments. They warned the group, however, that wise leadership is an essential factor in accomplishing this goal.

Highlights of the meeting were lectures on environmental sanitation by John O'Neill, director of the Division of Public Health Engineering. He emphasized the importance of public schools in setting only the best examples in such matters as garbage disposal, pure water supply, sanitary cafeteria conditions, plumbing, sewerage and drainage.

Dr. Murphy Martin, nationally known for his outstanding achievements in public health, outlined the needs of Public Health in Louisiana. Although Louisiana's State Department of Health is the oldest in the United States, appropriations stemming from three sources, state, federal and local are too low, Dr. Murphy said. Local funds have continued to lag behind the average appropriations of communities in other states. Two parishes, Jefferson and Calcasieu, have voted a local health millage. Richland Parish is preparing to do so in the near future.

Program activities in New Orleans included a tour of the State Department of Health and the Public Health Training Center.

In a ceremony marked by dignity and beauty, Miss Ann Marie Laskey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Eugene Laskey, of Ruston, was joined in marriage to Howard Cecil Kilpatrick, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cecil Kilpatrick, of Washington, D. C.

The Trinity Church in Ruston was the scene of the wedding solemnized by the Rev. G. W. Pomeroy of Ruston at eight o'clock in the evening, Saturday, June 23.

The bridal couple exchanged their vows before the altar decorated with gladioli, asters, and feverfiew. A garland of smilax encircled the rose window in the choir loft, beneath which burned cathedral tapers. In the background tall fluted columns held arrangements of pale pink gladioli, peonies, asters and feverfiew. Lower fluted columns holding similar lavish arrangements of pale pink summer flowers adorned the chancel, flanked by branched candelabr.. The pew, on the central aisle, down which the bridal party approached, was decorated with tall slender standards holding a single white taper. The standards garlanded in greenery were tied with pink satin bows and bonnet pink asters.

Mr. Marshall Bretz, at the organ, rendered a program of prenuptial music preceding the ceremony. During the ceremony, "Oh, Perfect Love," was played by Mr. Bretz. Mrs. Robert Parrott of Alexandria, soloist and cousin of the bride sang "I Love Thee," Grieg and "Calm as the Night."

C., Miss Lillis Lanphier, of Springfield, Ill., Miss Ann Rankin of Abilene, Tex. and Miss Pat Allspaugh, of Dallas, Tex. They were wearing identical gowns in picture dresses of petal pink nylon net, worn over hoops, the bodices molded to the figures, and to an off-the-shoulder neckline with rows of shirring. Their waists were banded with broad pink taffeta ribbon sashes, tied in bows at the side, with streamer ends reaching to the hemline. Half-hats of airy pink tulle in which were caught rosy hued blossoms, were the becoming headdresses. Pink pearls and short white gloves completed their costumes. Their bouquets were crescents of Red Delight roses, nestled in sprays of lemon leaves and puffs of Red Delight ribbon.

Misses Mary Helen Barksdale and Susan Ritchie, cousins of the bride, were the flower girls. They were gowned in as the bridesmaids with pink tulle bonnets and they carried nosegays of Red Delight roses.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiantly lovely in her diaphanous gown of imported white silk net, appliqued with pastel pink organdy lilies, outlined with embroidered lilies-of-the-valley. The low decollete neckline was banded in the appliqued motifs, which also fashioned the brief sleeves. The extremely full skirt, worn over hoops, was of layered fan pleated net with an overskirt of net, banded down the back over the hips, and down the length of the graceful train with appliqued lilies, and embroidery. Her veil of imported French silk illusion was a long, fingertip length, attached to a wide mesh cap with scattered pink valley-lilies on the crown and the brim. She carried pale pink lilies-of-the-valley.

Mr. Howard Cecil Kilpatrick, served his son as best man.

The garden was softly illuminated for the occasion with floodlights highlighting the tall trees in the background. At the end of the sunken garden the statue of a nymph, reflected in a pool, was the focal point of interest. Lights brought into relief the blossoming borders with their profusion of summer flowers, outlined with green and white calladium leaves. Wrought iron standard, holding candles, marked the entrance and exit from the garden.

The bride's table was covered with white organdy floor length cloth, centered with the exquisitely embossed bride's cake in pale pink decorated in lilies-of-the-valley. Its three tiers supported by slender pink columns. A garland of baby smilax caught with nosegay of pale pink roses and lilies-of-the-valley festooned the table. Milk Is Important To Diet In Summer

"Chef" cow says "Its June!—Dairy Month!" And if cows could really talk, they'd tell you—"For quicker pickup—choose milk!"

Mrs. Mildred Swift with your agriculture extension department says that milk is the food nature provides for the very young child. It contains all the nutrients for his early growth. The growing child can have part of his milk in easy-to-digest milk dishes, such as custards, cream soups, sauces and puddings. Milk adds to the life span and retards aging. Milk should be included in the diet for all ages, one quart of whole milk is required daily for each growing child and each pregnant or lactating mother. Two or three glasses, or their equivalent in other dairy products, are required daily for all adults.

The agent says money spent for milk, buys more food value. One would have to eat three pounds of string beans to get the calcium value of one pint of milk. A quart of milk is equal in energy value to one pound of lean beef; to six pounds of tomatoes; to six pounds spinach; to 13 oranges; to three broilers; to seven bananas; or 15 pounds raw cabbage. According to the milk industry foundation there are 274 individu nutrients in milk.

Mrs. Swift says, "Just think—what other food can you buy that has no waste? Every drop can be used."

Enough milk is produced annually in America to fill a river 3,000 miles long, 40 feet wide and three feet deep, so there is no reason other than financial, why every person in United States should not get his needed amount of milk.

Many children do not care for plain milk but there are so many ways by which we may disguise milk. Different drinks may be made by the addition of any one of the following: chocolate syrup, root beer extract and ice cream or malted milk in either vanilla or chocolate flavors. These may take a little time to prepare, but mothers, remember, there is no food more important to the health of your child than milk.

MISS MARTHA YERGER, BRIDE ELECT, HONORED AT SHOWER

Miss Martha Yerger, the bride-elect of Carl F. Andre of Vicksburg, whose late summer wedding is a prominent event of the season, was the inspiration for a lovely miscellaneous shower and tea given by Mrs. Matson McDonald at her Willow Glen plantation home at Delta. The reception rooms were adorned throughout with a profusion of pink flowers.

In the dining room the refreshment table, with its pink organdy cover draped with satin ribbon, was centered with an arrangement of pink blossoms in varying shades and on either side were pink birds holding wedding rings. On the buffet a beautifully embossed wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom was flanked with pink tapers entwined with tiny chrysanthemums of the same hue.

As the guests arrived they were greeted by little Sigried Andre and Lois Pillow, attired in yellow organdy, who presented each guest with a miniature facsimile of a newspaper, "The Andre-Yerger Herald," giving an account of plans for the wedding on August 4th.

For the occasion the honoree wore a beautiful blue nylon net over taffeta gown with a net stole and a corsage of pink roses, a gift of the hostess. Miss Elizabeth Yerger, sister of the bride-elect, who presided at the guest book was lovely in pale lavender nylon marquisite over pink taffeta with pink carnations in her hair. Members of the wedding who assisted in courtesies serving delicious fruit punch, sandwiches and confections were Mrs. Hugh Nicholls, Miss Helen Herring, Mrs. Pearce Bailey, Miss Jane Wailes, Miss Ruth Parsons and Mrs. Edley Jones.

The delightful affair was attended by over fifty guests from Vicksburg, Itta Bena, Miss., Tallulah, Mound, Delta and Casa Grande, Arizona.

MISS MARY CLAY TO REPRESENT ALTRUSA CLUB AT CONVENTION

Miss Mary Clay, librarian and faculty member of Northeast Louisiana State, will be the official representative of the Altrusa Club of Monroe at the Altrusa International convention, opening July 8 at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Among the guest speakers whom she will hear at the biennial conference are Margaret Hickey, editor, public affairs department, "Ladies Home Journal," and Dr. Harry Allen Overstreet, philosopher, psychologist and author of such widely read books as "The Mature Mind" and "Influencing Human Behavior."

Miss Clay has been a member of the local Altrusa Club for ten years and is currently on the board of directors for 1951-52.

While she served as international relations chairman of the local organization in the fall of 1950 and the following spring, Miss Clay initiated the project to aid the suffering civilians in Korea, made homeless by Communist invasion.

With the cooperation of women's church societies, various women's service clubs here and individuals of the community, Altrusa was responsible for the sending of much used clothing and bed covering and $200 for medical supplies. This sum was the largest sent for this purpose from the Altrusa Clubs of the seventh district, comprising four states and Mexico, Guatemala and Korea.

Miss Clay has also been active in Altrusa's vocational information committee. At her suggestion, the local club gave to the Northeast Louisiana State Library a subscription to Science Research Associates publications on guidance and vocations. This project has been continued for several years.

NEWS FROM THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Did you ever stop to think that the Public Library as we know it is a peculiarly American institution.Libraries of one sort or another has been in existence since ancient times, but only in America have we established libraries for the benefit of all the people. In Ancient Egypt there were magnificent libraries for the use of the priests and scholars. During the middle ges only the monastaries kept learning alive and only the monks read the beautiful books. In England, France, Germany and other countries of Western Europe thre are great National libraries, which are used only by the privileged few, but the great mass of the people have no access to libraries such as we know in this country. The American public library has truly been called the people's university and it is truly amazing the different types of people who use the Ouachita Parish Public Library and the different kinds of material they find to fill their needs.

During the summer months children all over Ouachita parish are taking part in the Reading Round up and are reading books in order to earn a certificate. However, adults are just as busy in different ways. Let's ook at some of the things you can get from your library in addition to a good book to while away a long summer afternoon.

First of all, are you planning a trip this summer? Did you know that your Library has guide books for every state in the Union? These books were prepared several years ago by the Federal Writer's project and they contain a great deal of valuable information concerning the history of cities, different tours, etc. You may arrange to borrow one of these books and take it with you on your trip. From experience, I know that this is a wise thing to do. If you are interested in more up-to-date information about any vacation spot, the Library has files of such magazines as Holiday, Travel and National Geographic, which can also be borrowed from the library. Also on file at the Library are travel folders for many trips of interest. Consult your Public Library if you are not sure where you would like to go.

If you are a stay-at home-this summer you have some pet project that you might develop at this time. Are you considering building a barbecue pit, or a patio? Don't move a brick until you read "Home mechanics outdoor handbook" by Hawkins or "Designs for outdoor living" by Goldsmith, just to mention two of the popular books that may help you. People of Ouachita Parish are becoming more and more interested in tracing their ancestry. The Ouachita Parish Public Library has a very good collection of genealogy books, which are housed at the Monroe Branch. These books may not be taken from the Library, but you can find a great deal of interesting information there, if you care to spend an evening.

Everyone is interested in owning a home of their own, either now or in the future. It is never too early to start studying and planning. The Library has an excellent collection of books on this subject. You can find information on how to go about every step of the way in planning your home. If you already have a home but wish to brighten it up a bit, there are many fascinating and lovely books on interior decoration available. While we are on the subject of homes, if you have not looked at that lovely book "A treasury of early American homes" by Pratt, you have missed a most enchaning experience. Be sure to ask for it the next time you come to the Library. It is in color and contains pictures and descriptions of some of the most beautiful old homes in the United States.

Almost every day their are several phone calls to the Library asking what hours it is open, so it is worthwhile to ention them again. The Monroe Branch located at 418 Jackson street and the West Monroe Branch located at 106 Cypress Street, just behind the new City Hall have the same hours. They are 9:30 a. m. to 8:00 p. m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays; 9:30 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. on Fridays and Saturdays. The Carver Branch is located at 116 North 10th Street in Monroe. This branch is for all the colored people in Ouachita Parish. It is open from 11:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, & Fridays. On Saturdays it opens at 10:00 and closes at 3:00. The Bookmobile serves all the sections outside the city limits of Monroe and West Monroe. There are ten Bookmobile routes. We have had schedules printed for each route. If you do not know where or when to meet the Bookmobile, come by the Library, call us, or write us a post card and we will mail you a schedule. The Ouachita Parish Public Library is run for the benefit of the people of Ouachita Parish. Are you using it.

Mrs. James Donnelly Hostess At Camellia Garden Club Meeting

Mrs. John P. Lewis Gives Lecture And Illustrations On Flower Arrangements

The June meeting of the Camellia Garden Club was held in the home of Mrs. James Donnelly with Mrs. W. E. Burke co-hostess.

Following an introduction of the new officers a brief business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Leighton Tapp. Two new members were welcomed to the club; Mrs. J. R. Freeman and Mrs. Judy Baird.

An illustrated lecture on flower arrangement by Mrs. John P. Lewis was most instructive. Using dahlias, daisies, gladiola and stock for her illustrations, Mrs. Lewis stressed the importance of line consciousness and monochromatic arrangements for simplicity in perfecting her artistic products. Basic factors of formal, informal and contemporary floral design were also artfully presented in a simple and direct approach.

Upon summarizing her presentation Mrs. Lewis emphasized the preservation of flowers as the most important factor in floral arrangement and said: "The grower must remember to select the blossoms in the opening bud stage. When this is done the life of the blossom is greatly prolonged and the true colors are more nearly retained, as the sun rays will not by then have bleached the petals. After the stems are cut from the parent stalk they should be placed in deep, cold water so the movement of the plant juices will be uninterrupted. Allow them to remain in the water at least an hour and preferably overnight. When they are finally removed eliminate half the foliage from the stems as well as any new growth and buds. While these may seem essential to the realistic appearance of the arrangement, they will absorb too much of the water before it reaches the tender blossoms. Removing the foliage reduces the tendency to decay and clog the water cells where the stems rest in the water. Flowers so treated last many days if water is added as needed.

"Water should be placed in the container before the design is begun and will help prevent the air drying the water cells during preparation. A knife should be used to cut the stems and a diagonal cut is preferred as this keeps the stems from resting flat against the bottom of the container where waste accumulates. This procedure is recommended for most flowers but there are some exceptions such as hydrangea and other succulent specimens.

"Flower arrangement is a practical art and offers enjoyment and relaxation. It is a contribution to the home that all may enjoy and appreciate."

At the conclusion of Mrs. Lewis' demonstration the meeting adjourned and delicious refreshments of lemonade and a salad plate were served to the members, Mrs. Cecil Jones, Mrs. J. C. Leath, Mrs. Loyd Miller, Mrs. Olla Mae Passman, Mrs. H. T. Poulan, Mrs. J. H. Paylor, Mrs. Carl Stevenson, Mrs. Leighton Tapp, Mrs. G. L. Thompson, Mrs. Earl Vigg, Mrs. E. L. Walker, Mrs. A. D. Wallace, Mrs. W. E. Burke, and Mrs. James Donnelly and the guests, Mrs. J. B. Landreaux and Mrs. F. H. Peterson.

The opening chapters of a new study by Mark Rich, "Rural Prospects," was interestingly reviewed by the new study leader, Mrs. Jack Waldrop. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. E. W. Corley, Sr., who met with the Collinston W. S. C. S. for the last time before leaving for Ponchatoula where Reverend Corley will have charge of Wesley chapel.

Hopgood, vice-president and treasurer; Miss Marie Hodges, recording secretary and literature and publications secretary; Mrs. A. H. Harper, promotion secretary and youth leader; Mrs. Dale Lowrey, program leader; Mrs. R. O. Richards, secretary of Christian social relations and local church activities Mrs. W. B. Girl Scout News

One of the best - planned and most-fun examples of troop camping we've heard of is Troop 28's recent week end camp at Chemin-a-haut state park. For several weeks in troop meetings the girls had planned kapers and menus, listed equipment, investigated costs and planned tentative program for the two days and nights.

Accompanied by their troop leaders, Mrs. Tom Davenport and Mrs. Henry Hinkle, Mrs. T. F. Wilson, troop committee member, and Mrs. Robert Easterling, camping consultant, the fifteen girls of the troop took off for camp the very minute school was out Friday. Settling into camp is always fun, and in this case called for much running back and forth between cabins, which were rather far apart.

It was the week-end of too-much rain in north Louisiana, but in spite of this, the girls succeeded in making the fires burn for cooking all their meals out of doors. The girls became so proficient that they completed requirements for the outdoor cook badge. The camping experience furnished opportunity, too ,for lashing, which was the only requirement the girls lacked for Campcraft badge. Leaders reported that the girls have become so experienced in working together that kaper charts worked like a charm, with the girls taking all responsibility. That's the way it should be. Leaders commended the girls, too, for the way they left their cabins at the end of camp — not just as clean as they found them—but just as spic and span as they could possibly look.

The site proved ideal for adventurous exploring, for doing and seeing the things that we wish all city children could see and do. Cypress knees on Bayou Bartholomew, a snake's nest with eggs in it, blackberries to pick for breakfast, a hike just to be walking together, new songs to learn and old ones to enjoy, a chance to practice measuring and judging—hat brim method of measuring distance, for example, were fun for the two days' encampment.

One if the nicest things about camp was the cooperation of parents to make it possible. Sunday at lunch time families of the girls came bringing picnic baskets and all had a good time eating together. Wonder if the girls could have been tired of their own cooking by then?

Before leaving for home, Scouts and families gathered in a pretty, quiet spot for a Scout's Own, the kind of thoughtful program that girls have on Sunday in camp.

Using appropriate songs and poems, this one carried out the theme of "Bells" and closed with the singing of "Vesper Hymn" and "Green Cathedral."

Girls in the troop who made the trip are: Nancy Albright, Trudy Baugh, Nancy Starr Breard, Charlotte Bruscato, Mary Jo Davenport, Emily Kay Ensminger, Cheryl Fink, Sally Hinkle, Janice Joyce, Beverly Leach, Marie Martin, enny Prophit, Martha Riser, Mary Elizabeth Webster, and Mrry Emma Wilson.

Rayville Methodist Church Is Scene Of Impressive Double Ring Ceremony

The Rayville Methodist Church was the scene of a lovely wedding ceremony uniting Miss Mirian Elaine Guynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hiram Guynes, of Rayville, and Sidney Reech, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Reech of Farmerville, last Saturday evening, June twenty-third, at six o'clock. A large number of friends witnessed the union of this popular young couple, at which the Rev. Earl B. Emmerich officiated.

The lovely double ring ceremony was performed against a setting of fragrant beauty, while muted notes from the organ provided a fitting background for the simple and age-old words of the marriage vows. Lovely and unusual cones of cypress greenery studded with white ettoreed daisies adorned the nave of the church, and each window bore a basket of the same fresh daisies and greenery, interspersed with tiny fluffs of maline. An arched path for the bridal party was formed across the bridal aisle, entwined with southern smilax, dainty palmetto blossoms, and pairs of wedding bells. The prie-dieu was garlanded with the same rich green cypress fronds and star-like daisies, as were the chancel steps, while a graceful garland of the same green interspersed with dainty palmetto blossoms formed a background for the wedding scene, which was flanked by softly gleaming candles in standard candelabra, lighted by Master Carey O'Neal, Jr.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was glowingly lovely in a gown of Goddess nylon lace over satin, with a marquisette yoke and simple princess lines, falling into folds of a deep train. The gown was fashioned with long sleeves which tapered into graceful points over the hand, and tiny covered buttons at the back of the dress. She wore a becoming Juliet cap of Goddess nylon lace over satin, stitched with seed pearls, from which cascaded gossamer folds of the fingertip viel. The exquisite bridal bouquet was centered by a purple-throated white orchid with white roses and stephanotis. For something old and borrowed she wore a heirloom lavaliere belonging to Mrs. J. E. Ball. A blue bridal garter and a penny in the shoe completed the wedding rhyme.

Serving as bridesmaids were Miss Evelyn Reech of Farmerville, Miss Betrice Enloe of Mansfield, Mrs. J. E. Ball and Miss Lillian Anita Cynes. The matron-of-honor was Mrs. Carey O'Neal. The bridal attendants were lovely in identical gowns of pastel blue marquisette with becoming bertha-effect collars, and a deep ruffled apron over the full skirt. Fingerless mitts and pink rose-adorned coronets of the same blue marquisette completed the ensemble. The bridesmaids carried unusual and effective wedding ring bouquets of pink carnations, dainty bows of maline, and twined velvet ribbons ending in graceful blue and pink streamers. The matron-of-honor carried a corsage of an orchid and pink carnations with satin ribbon streamers, fashioned like that of the bride.

Mr. Reech and his groomsmen, Messrs. Jack Turnage, and Charles Gillun of Farmerville, Van Reech of Pine Bluff, L. Yancey, Jr., Carey O'Neal and Dr. A. B. Cochran were all dressed in summer formal attire.

The beautiful pre-nuptial and background music was rendered by Mrs. W. L. Calhoun at the organ. "Because," "Oh, Perfect Love," and "At Dawning" were the vocal solos sung by Mrs. W. R. Coenen, lovely in formal dress of blue with matching accessories, and corsage of pink.

Mrs. Guynes was charming in a formal gown of powder blue crepe with accessories of pink. Mrs. Reech wore a becoming formal model of rose lace with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of sweetheart roses.

Following the wedding ceremony the many guests were welcomed at a reception at the lovely Guynes home. The reception rooms were beautifully adorned with numerous arrangements of the summer flowers for this occasion. A bowl of breath-taking pink roses graced the mantal, and gorgeous white gladioli centered the dining buffet. At a small table overlaid with a bride's cloth the guests received refreshing lime punch and dainty petits fours. The dining table was overlaid with an identical cloth of damask with an insertion of beading threaded with white satin ribbon and a deep ruffle of eyelet. Broad satin ribbons and trailing vines crossed the bridal table which held the beautiful tiered wedding cake, balanced by a pair of white wedding bells, with dramatic interest centered on the fragrantly glowing memory candle, a gift of Miss Pearl Lefevre, which burned throughout the ceremony and the reception, perfuming the air with the fragrance of lily-of-the-valley.

Assisting in extending the courtesies were Mrs. Charles Koontz at the punch bowl, Mrs. Lyman Gladney who served the wedding cake after the bride and groom together had cut the first slice, Mrs. Woodrow Coasts at the guest book, Mrs. J. Foster Jones, Jr., at the gift display, and Miss Josephine Mendolia, Mrs. Franklin Burley, Mrs. William Doughtie, and Mrs. Fred Christian, Jr. who assisted as tea girls.

The young couple left immediately following the reception for a wedding trip to the Ozard mountains. For her going-away ensemble Mrs. Reech chose a simply tailored suit of imported natural linen, with natural linen shoes, bag and gloves of beige, a brown blouse and brown ribbon hat. She wore a corsage of sun-yellow mums, and Miss Evelyn Reech caught her bridal bouquet which she tossed as she departed.

Mrs. Sindey Reech, Jr. is a graduate of Rayville High School and Northeast Junior college where she was a member of Phi Theta Kappa, national honorary fraternity, and the Purple Jackets. She is now employed in Rayville at the offices of the Farmers' Home Administration. Mr. Reech is a graduate of Farmerville High School and Louisiana State University. He served in the Navy during World War II, and now holds the position of Assistant County Agent with the Agricultural Extension Service. The young couple will make their home in Rayville.

Out of town guests for the wedding include the following: Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Reech, Miss Evelyn Reech, Mr. Jack Turnage, Mr. Chester Gillun, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Downes, all of Farmerville, Mrs Paul McLemore of Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Nichols, Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. Carrie Fiexmin and Miss Reegina Scherk, all of Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Volk of Bastrop; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Christian, Jr. of New Iberia; Mr. and Mr Van Reech of Pine Bluff; Mr. and Mrs. Rassie Smith and Miss Sandra Smith of Mobile; and Mr. and Mrs. Cammack Andrews of Houston.

Florence Abrams Is June Bride Of Nathan Waldman

Reception Follows Nuptials Celebrated On Virginia Hotel Roof

All the beauty which is associated with June weddings was reflected in the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Florence Gertrude Abrams and Mr. Nathan Waldman. The couple exchanged vows on Sunday, June 24 at 7:30 o'clock in the evening on the Roof Garden of the Virginia Hotel.

Rabbi F. K. Hirsch of Temple B'Nai Israel officiated at the impressive service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Benjamin Abrams of this city and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Waldman of Kilgore, Tex.

A concert of pre-nuptial music was given by Mr. Leon Hammonds, who also accompanied the soloist, Mr. Irving Zeldman as he sang "Yours is My Heart Alone," "I Love You Truly," and "Because."

Pre-Nuptial Concert

The couple said their vows before an improvised altar against a background of flowers and greenery. The large mantel was banked with pastel shades of gladioli, majestic daisies and fern. Lending additional loveliness to the setting were peach gladioli which overflowed from floor standards. The beautiful floral arrangements were illumined by white cathedral tapers which burned in seven-branched candelabra of wrought iron.

Wedding Gown

Given in marriage by her father, the bride entered to the strains of "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin. She was wearing a gown of shimmering satin made along princess lines and ending in a court train. The waist was fashioned with an invisible yoke encircled in Chantilly lace, which fell softly from the shoulders. It was joined to the satin in pointed effect. The skirt featured full-length inserts of knife-pleated lace, which gave added fullness and beauty. Its graceful lines were accented by the long train. The lace feature was also noted in the bride's elbow-lenth gloves.

Her finger tip veil of illusion fell from a cap of matching lace, edged with braided satin. She carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis and centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Irving Leibowitz of Monroe was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of orchid net over taffeta and carried a fan of yellow lacelou designed of dainty yellow rosebuds against a background of green foliage.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was his close friend, Mr. Phillip Hurwitz of Kilgore.

Ushers were Mr. Irving Leibowitz of Monroe, Mr. Herman Waldman of Dallas and Mr. Leo Zipkes of Monroe.

Garden Reception

The ceremony was followed by a reception on the Roof Garden, where Mr. Hammonds played soft music during the festive occasion. The bride's and groom's parents and members of the wedding party greeted a concourse of friends.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Abrams, was lovely in an aqua chiffon and lace gown dotted with rhinestones. It was designed with a closely fitted bodice and full skirt which fell in soft folds to the floor.

Mrs. Waldman, the bridegroom's mother, was gowned in rose beige lace over taffeta. The basque waist, trimmed in buttons that ran down the front, was joined to a floor-length skirt. Her necklace and bracelet of rhinestones enriched the effect. Both mothers wore purple orchids at the shoulder.

The Bride's Table

The bride's table was covered with an imported linen cloth of Italian cutwork and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake embossed in orange blossoms and valley lilies. Surmounting the confection was a pretty arrangement of white roses and maiden hair fern. The large reflector on which the cake rested was encircled with white net and satin ribbon. The effectiveness was enhanced by the soft glow of tapers in three-branched candelabra, placed on either side. Old fashioned nosegays of white stock and stephanotis, with white satin streams were caught at the base of the candles. The table held compotes of mints embossed in valley lilies and a tray of individual cakes bearing the letters, F-N.

At one end of the garden was a long lace-covered refreshment table, centered with a bautiful floral arrangement. Pastel shades of gladioli, king asters, majestic daisies and pompon chrysanthemums were combined in artistic fashion. Large trays of sandwiches and confections were served with frosted drinks.

Assisting in serving were Miss Alice Chilton of this city and collegemate of the bride, and Miss Marion Dewhurst of Kilgore.

Miss Gloria Weinberg of Monroe was in charge of the bride's book. The three wore rosebud corsages with their attractive street-length frocks.

After cutting the wedding cake, the bride changed her gown for a smart tailleur of navy silk Shantung and matching accessories, and she wore the white orchid from her bridal bouquet. The couple left on a motor trip to California, with stops en route to places of beauty and historical import. Following their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Waldman will make their home in Kilgore, where he is associated with his father in business.

Fill split grilled frankfurters with pickle relish and then serve with baked beans and a green salad for an easy-to-prepare supper. Add toasted rolls and a favorite beverage, and fresh fruit for dessert.

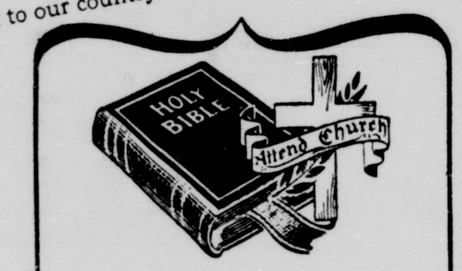
1776 'till NOW...

Independence Day, the Fourth, the Glorious Fourth of July, that Great Day in the history of our Great Country—the birthday of our freedom! It's time to celebrate! It's time to rededicate yourself to God and Country!

In 1776, July 4 was a day of jubilee, bell ringing. A people rejoiced with all its heart because its Declaration of Independence had been adopted. Long had they struggled under the oppression of tyranny, awaiting the fullness of time that would bring leaders to guide their way to freedom. They had been plucky, they had been patient, but now their hour had struck. At last their claims to "certain unalienable Rights... Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness"... were no longer intangible dreams, but a living challenge across the sea "to a candid world." Those patriots knew the struggle would be hard, that it would mean personal sacrifice for each and every one...it was a preposterous assignment; it was a fearful task. Did they hang back and haggle as to the prudence of such daring? Did they talk of doubt and fear and mistrust of their leaders? They weren't made of such stuff. They were proud of their commitment. Like their leaders, they were ready, "with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence," to pledge their Lives, their Fortunes, and their sacred Honor to support their Declaration of Independence. Their Spirit sanctioned every word. Their bells rang out in a grand "AMEN!"

This year July 4 likely will be gayer than ever. We will picnic, we will swim, we will go places. There'll be fireworks, parades, band-playing, speech-making. Again it will be a Great Day of celebration. But there'll be an undercurrent of solemnity; there'll be a reverent re-dedication to our country. We know that our nation stands today in grave peril; we are warned at every hand of the powerful tyranny which rides today unchecked, growing more threatening and more powerful hour by hour, day by day...Russia and her fifth column. We realize that the fate of our freedom is in our own hands. We must not be unconcerned. We must recognize the dangers. We must be ready to sacrifice. Like our forefathers, we must value our democratic freedom more than life itself...As we have done for nearly 200 years. Never have the people of America failed to rally in support of the principles set forth in our Declaration of Independence. We never will! Communism cannot take root in the Land of the Free. We have no desire for territory. We have no ambition for conquest and military glory. We want no loot. But we mean to have our freedom and independence, whatever the cost. In 1776, our forefathers made a bold Declaration against Despotism. Today, we stand ready to uphold that Declaration against any powers that be. The Spirit of '76 still lives. The right to fredoom of worship must Prevail.



YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

Credit Bureau Maintains Records On 90,000 Buyers

Bureau Bridges Gap Between Installment Buying Public and Merchant; Files Cover Northeast Louisiana Buyers, As Well As Twin Cities

By Bert Hatten

At least 90,000 buyers in the Twin Cities at one time or another—most of them many times—have said "charge it" to merchants who are members of the Credit Bureau of Monroe and West Monroe.

This privilege in most cases has been established through the efficiency of the credit bureau which bridges the gap between retail merchants and the credit buying consumer.

As it operates "behind the scene," so to speak, few buyers know the credit bureau exists. And still fewer know how it operates.

The main business of the credit bureau is to keep files on credit buyers who purchase on the familiar "installment plan" in order that information can be passed on to member merchants who want to determine whether they are making a sound risk in accepting a new credit customer.

When an established credit buyer makes application with a firm he has never dealt with, his record is checked at the bureau to find out how well he has met obligations in previous contracts.

Herbie B. Ryland, manager of the local credit bureau, gave a detailed explanation on the machinery of his organization in an interview this week.

"Actually, we don't call anyone a dead beat, nor do we class anyone as a shining example of honesty—we merely let the record speak for itself," Ryland said.

A look at the bureau's files shows just how true his statement is and gives some idea of the importance of their information. The files show whether any bills are delinquent, when they were contracted, what store or firm holds the debt, when the last payment was made and other actual circumstances in the particular buyers credit history.

Questioned as to how 90,000 buyers got into his files when the entire population of the Twin Cities would hardly reach that number, Ryland pointed out that records were kept on all persons who buy on credit terms at Monroe and West Monroe firms who are members of the bureau. "Our files include people from all over northeast Louisiana," Ryland said.

Approximately 135 Twin City firms are members of the local credit bureau and are entitled to its services.

Asked to explain how a credit buyer must first establish his credit, Ryland said a person not listed in the files must supply the names of three or four reputable persons or firms who will vouch for his honesty and ability to pay.

"And, of course, if a check with these references proves satisfactory, credit is usually granted," according to Ryland. After a credit purchase has been made, Ryland said, "We can check back to see how prompt the debt was cancelled should the buyer seek credit with another firm in the future."

"It's up to the store, of course, whether it grants credit to anyone," Ryland said. "We merely supply as many facts as we can on the prospective customer's previous paying habits."

The credit buyer never deals directly with the bureau itself. The firm he buys from consults the bureau (usually by telephone) and asks that the buyer's history on previous accounts be supplied. The desired information ordinarily is obtained within a few minutes.

In addition, the bureau often provides numerous other services.

As one example, Mr. Ryland said many employers who anticipated the promotion of an employe to a more responsible position often call to check on the person's record in handling his private obligations.

Law enforcement authorities are also offered the benefit of any information in the files which may help out in identification or in an investigation.

Through its association with other bureaus in the United States, and even in foreign countries, the office here can supply information on people who have moved to other cities. Mr. Ryland said he received queries almost daily from distant credit bureaus asking a reference check on persons who have moved away from the Twin Cities and sought to open charge accounts in their new locale. And it works the other way around when local merchants want to find out how sound a risk a new resident in the Twin Cities might be.

The credit bureau manager pointed out that "most people don't realize how a bad reputation at one store can follow them any where they seek credit."

Occasionally a person will come into the office to inquire about his credit record. The association welcomes these visitors and does everything it is power to straighten out any problem that might be brought up.

Experience has proven that persons can best be helped by a visit to the association's office. Even though the record is not changed, unless there is an error, the interview often results in a better understanding of the file record by both the visitor and the credit bureau. Additional information is always obtained. Often the additional information is helpful to the visitor in the future.

Some enter the office angry, some cry and others laugh. Regardless of their disposition, they always leave with a greater respect for their credit record.

Most visitors have good reasons for coming to the association. They often are one of the following:

1. They have been refused credit by one of the member firms.
2. Explain extravagance of husband or wife and issue a "non-responsible notice" in a semi-public manner.
3. Some wish to purchase a home on terms and want to make sure their record is in good shape.
4. Some times a person is married or divorced and wants that information placed in his file.
5. Or maybe an old debt has been paid and a judgment has been cleared; therefore the visitor wants the details placed in his record in order to remove a possible blemish in his credit record.

Of course there are many other reasons a person might want to visit the association, but these are just a few examples which are common cases.

The association has a burning desire for people to know more about their credit bureau. The bureau itself as well as member merchants and their customers benefit when all parties are familiar with the policies of the credit bureau.

CREDIT RATING CHECKED

After a local merchant called the credit bureau to check the credit rating of a prospective buyer. Herbie Ryland and Mrs. Mariam Slavent (above) check their file to furnish the buyer's record. Manager Ryland, and a staff of five girl "reporters," maintains files on some 90,000 persons who have bought on the "installment plan" from Twin City merchants who are members of the credit bureau. The credit bureau office is located at 111 ½ North Second street, Monroe. (Staff Photo By Marvin DuBos)

Mistrial Results In Negro's Case

Jonesville, La., June 30.—The trial of Elijah Doyle, Franklin parish Negro, on charges of attempt to murder, ended in a mistrial in seventh district court when a jury failed to agree on a verdict.

Doyle was charged with attempted murder of G. L. Cruse, Jr., of Enterprise last January when Cruse and his father were hunting hogs in the woods. Cruse told officers then that he had found some dead hogs under a tree and that some Negroes had jumped out of the bushes at him and a shot had been fired. Doyle was subsequently arrested and released on bond on charges of attempted murder and theft.

FATHER JONES IS BACKING FREEDOM

Grace Church Rector Announces Support Of 'Under God' Program

Father David A. Jones, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, advises that he is supporting the "Freedom Under God" observance of the 4th of July, sponsored by 50 famous Americans, including former President Herbert Hoover and General Douglas MacArthur.

According to Father Jones, the 175th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence will be observed by churches ringing their bells at noon on July 4th; by clergymen preaching sermons on "Freedom Under God" on the Sunday preceding Independence Day; and by millions of Americans pausing on the 4th of July to read the Declaration of Independence.

Sponsor of this cleebration is a newly formed "Committee to Proclaim Liberty". Membership includes top-ranking figures in religion, labor, management, education, government, and the entertainment world.

In addition to the services Sunday, July 1, and the bell ringing at noon, July 4; there will be two celebrations of the Holy Eucharist at Grace Church on Independence Day, at 7 a.m. and 9:30 a.m., with special intentions and prayers offered for our country and for the peace of the world.

It has been pointed out that on America's first Independence Day church bells rang, prayers were said, and copies of the Declaration of Independence were read by everyone. "By reviving this custom in our community," Father Jones said, "Grace Church will join with hundreds of other churches of all denominations in symbolizing America's Freedom Under God."

Manning Named P. J. President

Jonesville,La., June 30.—D. W. Manning, police rjuor of ward six, was elected president of the Catahoula parish police jury at its meeting in Harrisonburg, held this week because the regular time would have been on a legal holiday, July 4.

Manning succeeds D. E. Woodin of Foules, who served the policy jury as president for many years. Woodin asked that his name not be offered for reelection.

Rate of taxation for parish taxes was fixed by the jury on the same basis as last year's taxes with the exception of road district 3 for which the millage was increased from five to seven mills.

The jury designated August 13 and 14 as dates for the jury to meet as a board of review. Purpose of the board will be to pass on protests any taxpayers may have against values fixed by the state tax commission.

WILLET'S SAFETY AUTO

Walter Weir, pilot and safety director for the J. O. Willett Pipe Line Company, is shown above in the door of the provised safety automobile which has recently been completed. The Ford coupe is a brilliant red and is equipped with a red spot light, radio and signs on the doors stating: "Think—Be Safe." Weir asserted that since the installation of the safety campaign by his company, accidents have dropped tremendously, cutting the number from two-thirds of what they were in 1950. "If an individual trys to be safe he can," said Weir, and the safety car is another piece of equipment for safety protection and for promoting safety. (Staff Photo by Marvin DuBos.)

Abbott And Costello Match Wit With 'Invisible Man' At Joy Today

Screwball Comics Featured In Hilarious New Hit Opening Here

'Abbott and Costello Meet the Invisible Man," Universal - International's current comedy with the famous laugh team, more than lives up to the high hilarity standard maintained for years by these funny men, judging from the reaction of the audience at the Joy Theatre, where the laugh riot opens today.

Bud and Lou are at their best in this boisterous, action - packed film which taxed the camerz wizards of the studio to the utmost of their ingenuity while calling on the comedians themselves for the maximum of effort and endurance.

The comedy is well - paced, the producer, Howard Christie, and the veteran director, Charles Lamont, employing a stepped - up tempo which keeps an audience out of breath as the zany story unfolds.

One of the finest supporting casts ever to assist Bud and Lou in carrying out their screwball buffoonery is headed by Nancy Guild, Adele Jergens, Arthur Franz, William Frawley, Sheldon Leonard, Gavin Muir and others.

The story, exceptionally solid for this type of comedy, concerns Bud and Lou as private detectives who try to help Arthur Franz clear himself of a murder charge. The fact that Franz is a middleweight boxer, necessitates, of course, Lou becoming a fighter, with Bud his manager, and the Costello schnozzola taking a lot of punishment in the ring

The fact that Franz gives himself a hypo that makes him invisible through most of the story brings further brief to Bud and Lou and assorted heavies, including Sheldon Leonard. In the end Franz is cleared of the murder charge and reunited with his sweetheart, played by Nancy Guild.

Adele Jergens scores as the moll of Leonard, an enchantress who tries to make Lou Costello throw a fight, and displays a flair for comedy hitherto unsuspected of the "Champagne Blonde."

"Abbott and Costello Meet the Invisible Man" is one of the funniest pictures ever made by the comics, who to date have made 26 films and have been teamed 16 years, 11 of them in the movies.

'On The Riviera' Showing At Tem

Danny Kaye, Gene Tierney and Corinne Calvet form a triple-threat star combination in "On The Riviera," the Technicolored musical farce which starts today at the Tem Theatre. In this Twentieth Century - Fox production, Kaye plays a dual role, that of a French lover and hero and an American entertainer in a French night club on the Riviera, giving him the opportunity to sing, dance and make love to both Miss Tierney and Miss Calvet with equal abandon. The complications which arise from Kaye's look-alike roles are the basis for the swift-paced story.

To get the lush backgrounds of the French Riviera, Producer Sol C. Siegel and Director Walter Lang sent special camera crews to the resort capital of the world for the exterior scenes. These, combined with the lavish interiors in the picture give it a splendor seldom achieved in a musical production.

STARTS TODAY AT TEM

Corinne Calvet displays her Continental charms in "On The Rivera," Twentieth Century-Fox's Technicolor prescription for whatever ails you, coming next to the Tem Theatre, Danny Kaye and Gene Tierney share top billing with the French lovely in this merry, melodious, and madcap musical. Walter Lang directed the Sol C. Siegel production.

COOPER, GREER IN NAUTICAL HIT

'You're In The Navy Now' Coming To Paramount Wednesday

A behind-the-scenes glimpse of what the United States navy is and does furnishes the comedy and excitement in "You're In The Navy Now," Twentieth Century-Fox film starring Gary Cooper and Jane Greer, which is coming to the Paramount on Wednesday. More particularly the picture concerns itself with the navy's "90-day wonders" and the struggles with a top-secret projectile tried out with sub - chasers in World War II.

Gary Cooper, who returned to the studio where he played his first movie part as a cowboy in a Tom Mix picture for $10 a day because he took extra falls, has a tailor-made role. As an engineer who has never sailed a ship he is placed in command of a new type of submarine chaser—the fastest thing on the seas—except that the mechanism of the ship is so mysterious it keeps exploding. And the crew, composed of a group of the screen's top character actors including Millard Mitchell, Eddie Albert, John McIntire, Ray Collins, Jack Webb, Richard Erdman, Harvey Lembeck and Henry Slate, is also a "90-day wonder" group, knowing practically nothing about the sea. This gives rise to a continual series of incidents that are both screamingly funny and tensely exciting.

Director Henry Hathaway and Producer Fred Kohlmar took their company of players to the navy yards in Norfolk, Va., for the exterior scenes for the picture which give it an authenticity that has been commended by the navy staff in Washington, D. C. Scenes also were filmed at Hampton Roads and on Chesapeake Bay. Captain Joseph W. Lomax, who skippered a subchaser during World War II was the technical advisor for the navy on the picture. An exact replica of the PC1168 used for the exterior scenes was reproduced at the Twentieth Century-Fox studio for the interiors.

While "You're In the Navy Now" is hilarious comedy it also has its moments of romance. Jane Greer, in the role of Cooper's screen wife, is the only girl in the cast of 20 gallant naval officers and 50 eager enlisted men and she found herself at a new height of popularity, getting the maximum of attention both in the film scenes and on the set. Harry Von Zell and Ed Begley have prominent supporting roles in the cast which also includes Fay Roope, Charles Buchinski, Charles Tannen, Biff McGuire, Jack Warden and a score of others.

"You're In The Navy Now" is scheduled for a run of four days at the Paramount theatre.

If you are redoing your kitchen consider the advantage of having one wooden counter top suitable for cutting. This saves getting out and putting away a separate cutting and chopping board.

PLAYING AT PARAMOUNT

Valentino lives and loves again in the technicolor spectacle "Valentino" starring Eleanor Parker and Anthony Dexter, above at the Paramount Theatre today thru Tuesday.

New Star Makes Fiery 'Valentino' In Drama Of Great Lover's Career

Anthony Dexter Plays Part Of Famous Star; Plays Paramount Today

Rudolph Valentino, the fabled screen lover who made the hearts of countles s millions of women skip many a beat, loves and lives again in Columbia Pictures "Valentino," which opens a three day engagement at Paramount today. His tempestuous saga and fabulous times have been filmed in color by Technicolor with all the glamor, vivid drama and fiery passion that attended him both on and off the screen. Eleanor Parker and Anthony Dexter as Valentino are co-starred, with Richard Carlson, Patricia Medina and Joseph Calleia featured.

In the intimate, behind - the-scenes story of the man so many women loved, Edward Small's production dwells principally on the romantic aspects. In "Valentino" can be found the savage charm that Valentino exuded to the women who literally worshipped him. The star's incandescent personality, his striking handsomeness wove a romantic spell that has never before been equalled, until the casting of Anthony Dexter in the role of the great lover.

In "Valentino," Dexter arrives in America after a romantic shipboard interlude with Miss Parker, who, unknown to him, is a great movie star. A dancer by profession, he ekes out a living as a gigolo until his meteoric climb to fame begins when he again meets Miss Parker, in company with Carlson, her director. Carlson senses Dexter's magnetic attraction for women.

Dexter gets his main chance when the role of Julio, the gaucho, opens up. In a superb dancing exhibition at a private party, Dexter lands the role and is well on his way to stardom. Miss Parker and Dexter are starred in a desert movie, a picture filled with fiery love scenes. Their acting ceases to be acting when they are carried away by their emotions. A snooping newspaperman divines their secret love and photographs them in a romantic rendezvous. Dexter, movie hero to millions of women, proves a hero off the screen when, in a weakened condition, he fights to destroy the photograph.

Miss Parker, as Dexter's one great romance, gives a moving performance as the movie star who loves him, despairs of him and then finds it is futiel to figh her feelings for him. Dexter, reputed to have been discovered by producer Small after a ten-year search, is Valentino to the life. His physical appearance is remarkably like that of the immortal star and, costumed as Valentino, he is certain to set off a whole new Valentino vogue as he superbly dances and romances his way through the picture. Solid support from Carlson as the director, who recognizes the depths of his wife's feelings for Dexter, Mise Medina as one of Dexter's loves and then finds it is futile to fight

George Bruce did the "Valentino" screen play, Lewis Allen directed and Small produced, with Jan Grippo as associate of the producer.

Hollywood, June 30.—(AP)—Dana Andrews offers some insight on the economics of being a movie star with the announcement that he is selling his yacht.

Andrews' earning power hasn't changed. In fact, he probably draws around $2,500 a week from his employers. But he is offering his 80-foot prize ketch for sale because he figures he can't afford it. He's even taking a loss on the sale. He said he has put $51,000 into the boat, which originally cost $350,000 to build. He'll let it go for $40,000, if he can find a taker.

"I found out owning a boat that size is a rich man's hobby," he remarked. "And I'm not a rich man. It's just like the crack J. P. Morgan was supposed to have made. Someone asked him how much a man had to earn to afford a yacht. He answered, 'If you have to figure it out, you can't afford it.' That's too true.

"My boat was costing me about $1,000 to $1,200 a month to run. That's about all I can save from my earnings. I was just robbing my family of the money by keeping the boat. So I decided to sell."

Unlike some filmsters, Andrews doesn't rail at the taxes which keep him from living up to the scale of his salary.

"I realize we've got to have the taxes," he said. "If we didn't, inflation would be even more fantastic than it is now." . . .

A milestone was passed this week with the announcement that L. B. Mayer was leaving the studio that bears his name. He has been closely identified with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer since he helped found it in 1924. (Samuel Goldwyn left the company before it started operation).

Mayer's departure brings back memories of the star - studded luncheon which his studio gave on its 25th anniversary a couple of years ago. At that time Mayer declared: "As long as Nicholas Schenck is president of this company, I will remain here"!

Now there is conjecture that the company will drop the spelled-out title and be known only by the initials MGM. . . .

Social event of the week was the arrival of Henry Fonda in "Mister Roberts' at the Biltmore.

Keith said later that Fonda was even greater in the role than he was on opening night in New York.

UGH! I CAN HEAR THE AMERICAN COLONY GOSSIPS NOW — "MY DEAH! THE LITTLE NURSE NOT ONLY MADE A FOOL OF OUR DARLING BILLIE, BUT SHE NEARLY HAD HER HOSPITALIZED FOR A BIG HEAD AND A HARD HEART!"

IF THAT DOCTOR OR THOSE STUPID M.P.'S MAKE A REPORT, IT'LL GET AROUND... I WON'T STAY HERE TO BE A LAUGHINGSTOCK.

YOU! CALL THE DESK. I WANT A CAR TO TAKE ME TO THE AIRPORT.

MEANWHILE, AS THE TRAINLOAD OF MILITARY PERSONNEL RETURNING TO DUTY HURRIES THROUGH THE NIGHT...

WHEW! I'M STILL LIMP, TERRY! HAD TO WORK FAST TO KEEP BILLIE FROM GETTING TO CHAZZ.

HOW DID SHE FIND OUT, SPRAY?

SHE FOUND OUT I'D BRIBED HOTSHOT'S DRIVER TO TURN UP WITH A CAR THAT PRACTICALLY FELL APART AND THEN TO MAROON THEM OUT IN THE COUNTRY IN THE RAIN.

IF SHE'D EVER GOTTEN TO CHAZZ WITH HER STORY, HE'D PROBABLY HAVE BLOWN HIS TOP... ULP!

YOU'RE DOGGONE RIGHT HE WOULD!

YIPE! HOTSHOT! I THOUGHT YOU WERE AT THE OTHER END OF THE TRAIN...

SO, YOU THOUGHT IT WAS SAFE TO CRAWL OUT OF YOUR HOLE AND GLOAT OVER WHAT A FIDDLE-FOOTED YOKEL YOU MADE OUT OF OL' CHARLES C.

OF ALL THE CHEAP, CONNIVING, DOUBLE-CROSSING, LOW, SNEAKY, CHISELING TRICKS! YOU'D STOP AT NOTHING TO KEEP ANOTHER GAL AWAY FROM ME JUST BECAUSE YOU'RE IN LOVE WITH OL' HOTSHOT YOURSELF...

...IN LOVE WITH OL' HOTSHOT! WHAT AM I KICKING ABOUT?... WELL, I'LL BE...

DARLING!

BABY!

IN A HIT-AND-RUN CASE, THE DRIVER CLEANED AND RENOVATED HIS CAR, BUT PARTICLES OF DRIED BLOOD AND SKIN LATER WERE FOUND BETWEEN THE TIRE AND EDGE OF RIM. CONFESSION FOLLOWED.

WHAT HAPPENED AFTER I SHOT HIM? I DON'T REMEMBER, BUT—

I HEAR FOOTSTEPS! I—I MUST HIDE THIS!

THEY SHOT MY HUSBAND—ROBBED OUR SAFE—ALL MY DIAMONDS—

THE BABY AND ALL THEIR PHOTO EQUIPMENT WAS ABANDONED IN THE LIVINGROOM.

I WAS IN THE KITCHEN BAKING A CAKE. HAD THE ELECTRIC MIXER GOING—I DIDN'T HEAR THIS.

TRACY CALLING SAM CATCHEM! GET THE MEDICAL EXAMINER OVER HERE PRONTO!

CREWY LOU AND HER ASSISTANT HAVE MADE A CLEAN SWEEP. HALF A MILLION DOLLARS IN DIAMONDS MISSING, AND MR. KNOX SHOT TO DEATH.

2-WAY WRIST RADIO

HE WAS SO DEVOTED AND WE WERE SO COMPLETELY HAPPY, ESPECIALLY SINCE THE BABY CAME.

LATER—

THAT BULLET HOLE WAS MADE BY A .22.

THAT'S VERY STRANGE.

STRANGE? ARE YOU KIDDING?

CROOKS USUALLY CARRY A LARGER CALIBER GUN THAN A .22—USUALLY A .32 OR .45.

SOON AS YOU BOYS HAVE FINISHED THE PHOTOGRAPHING, WE'LL REMOVE THE BODY.

7-1-51

MRS. KNOX, WOULD YOU STEP OVER HERE AND LOOK AT A PHOTOGRAPH WE HAVE, TO SEE IF THIS MIGHT BE A PICTURE OF THE KILLER?

DR. RUFF ORDERS DALE TO REMAIN INSIDE AT THE CONTROLS AND GIVE UP HER SPACE HELMET TO HIS NIECE, GINGER. WHEN FLASH DEMURS, RUFF SAYS BLUNTLY: "I'M IN CHARGE HERE. I'M STARTING GINGER'S SPACE-TRAINING AT ONCE."

WEARING MAGNET-SHOES, FLASH AND THE CREW BEGIN TO FASTEN THE ROBOT-ROCKETS TOGETHER AS THE FIRST STEP IN THE CONSTRUCTION PROJECT. "BE CAREFUL," FLASH WARNS BY HELMET RADIO. "THERE'S ALMOST NO GRAVITY. YOU'RE APT TO FLOAT AWAY INTO SPACE."

AS THE SPACE-ISLAND BEGINS TO TAKE SHAPE GINGER CURIOUSLY EXPLORES A ROCKET, NOT KNOWING IT IS FILLED WITH LIQUID OXYGEN. "DON'T OPEN THAT HATCH!" FLASH SHOUTS, BUT GINGER'S RADIO IS TURNED OFF.
